RODMAN WANAMAKER DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Will Discusses U. S. Supervision of Nicaraguans

(Special To The News)

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 9.—The senate says the marines were sent to Nicaragua to supervise an election, and have to stay until it's held, which is next October.

Meantime, the marines are doing all they can to see that there are fewer votes to supervise, and Sandino is doing all he can to see that there are fewer marines to supervise the next time we go wet-nursing some ambitious republic's election.

Why go in so early? Go in on the day of election. We are the only nation that ever supervised anything a year before it was supposed to come off.

Yours for shorter and fewer supervisions.

WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

While the weather conditions haven't as yet given such a great idea that spring is here, or even approaching, the housewives of New Castle are taking it for granted that the season will arrive as scheduled and are already busily engaged in housecleaning work. Tons of wall paper cleaner will be used in this city in the next few weeks, or months.

Announcement that Thomas Solomon is to erect a fine new business block in the seventh ward is a gratifying note of city progress. New Castle extends over a wide area, and progress in all sections is being steadily recorded.

The grand jury that has just completed its work ran true to form. Included in the recommendations was one asking that a new court house be erected. Some day the county officials will start action to officially see whether or not erection of a new court house is a feasible project.

Most of the observing yesterday afternoon was done on Wilmington avenue, and Pa Newc is grieved to report that it is in no better condition. And West Leasure avenue, where so many people have built their homes, hoping that some day the sea of mud which they use for a street, would be fixed, is in even worse shape than a great many of the other unpaved streets of the city.

One of the kindest men in the city, we believe, is the man who runs a garage in Sycamore alley. Every morning he puts out many handfuls of corn for the pigeons that live in the belfries of the downtown churches. Of late, though, other birds have been poaching on the private preserves of the pigeons. Yesterday it was a pair of bluebirds, another sign that spring is here.

Thursday afternoon, on Euclid avenue, Pa Newc helped in a chase of a run-away bulldog. Somehow, Pa Newc believes that some dogs have a fiendish intelligence. This dog would wait only until his mistress would get within two or three feet of him. Then just as she would make a lunge for him, off he would go again. From latest advices, the dog is still at large.

From reports reaching Pa Newc from various sections of the county, there must be an epidemic of mumps in some of the outlying districts. There are some cases in the city, but the county districts seem to be harder hit than the city at the present time.

Plans are being made for a petition asking that the matter of annexation of a part of Neshannock township to the city to be voted upon. There are a number of suburban sections adjoining the legal limits of this city that are really within the city, except legally, and growth of New Castle

Famous Merchant Dies Early Today At Atlantic City

Rodman Wanamaker Passes Away After Brief Illness Of Pneumonia

HEAVIEST INSURED MAN IN AMERICA

Widely Known For Philanthropies And Work For Aviation Progress

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 9.—Rodman Wanamaker, New York merchant, philanthropist and patron of arts and sciences, who died today at his estate in Atlantic City, was reported to be the heaviest insured man in the United States. Policies on his life totaled $7,500,000.

He was one of the foremost merchants of the world. He inherited the widely known Wanamaker stores in New York, Philadelphia and Paris from his famous father, the late John Wanamaker.

Rodman Wanamaker's death this morning was sudden, a cold contracted last Sunday developed into pneumonia, to which he succumbed at 2:30 o'clock. At his bedside were his son, Captain John Wanamaker, and his daughter, Mrs. Ector Munns.

Stores Closed

All Wanamaker stores will be closed until after the funeral services which will be held at Lindenhurst, the family estate at Germantown, Pa. It is assumed that Mr. Wanamaker's business organization will be the beneficiary of a large part of his heavy personal insurance.

Wanamaker was 65 years old. He was born in Philadelphia February 13, 1863. He was graduated from Princeton University in 1886 and

BEAUTY IS IN CUSTODY

(International News Service)

DETROIT, March 9.—Miss Thelma Williams, 22-year-old beauty who, in 1926, appeared as "Miss Pittsburgh" in the Atlantic City beauty contest, is being held by police today while federal authorities seek a man said to have staged beauty contests in various cities which Miss Williams invariably won.

Thomas C. Wilcox, head of the Detroit office of the department of justice, said that the man involved in the case has left Detroit.

Mother-Daughter Suicide Victims By Fumes Route

Find Mother And Young Daughter Dead From Fumes In Wilmington, Dela.

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., March 9.—Mrs. Edith Sheppard, 42, and her daughter Edith, 13, were found dead in their gas filled apartment here early today. Both were listed as suicides.

Mrs. Sheppard had been estranged from her husband, Charles Sheppard, former city auditor and well known in political circles here, for the past year. Police believe despondency over marital troubles led the woman to take her life and that the little girl worried by her mother's difficulties consented to join her in the death pact.

Levine And Party Arrive In Florida

(International News Service)

HIALEAH, Fla., March 9.—Charles A. Levine, Mabel Boll, "queen of diamonds", and William Stults, pilot of the transatlantic plane Columbia, arrived here at 1:50 o'clock today on their return trip from Havana.

The trio will take off at 2:30 for Palm Beach and St. Petersburg.

Stinson And Haldeman Give Up Endurance Test

(International News Service)

DETROIT, March 9.—Wind-driven snow swirling over Lake St. Clair this morning forced Eddie Stinson and his co-pilot, George Haldeman, to abandon their attempt to beat the world's endurance record for airplanes after being in the air 18½ hours.

Stinson and Haldeman made a safe if hazardous landing at 2:58 a. m.

Stinson said he would try again for the record but "not today".

He and Haldeman gulped down eagerly the first hot food they had had since early yesterday morning. Then they went to bed.

Stinson and Haldeman said they had been blinded by the snow. Fearing they might get out over the open waters of Lake St. Clair the fliers made a safe land at Selfridge field. The storm had put out the landing lights at the field.

When the plane took off from the lake it carried 548 gallons of gas and 20 gallons of oil. Under 6,081 pounds weight the ship flew steadily 200 feet up. Before midnight last night, with its gas load perceptibly lightened, it was flying at an altitude of 600 feet with the motor running perfectly.

Stinson was attempting to beat the world's record set by Edzard and Risticz last August in a Junkkers monoplane. The two German fliers stayed aloft 52 hours, 22 minutes and 31 seconds. To better this time it would have been necessary for Stinson to have stayed in the air until 2 p. m. Saturday.

Part Of State Has Heavy Snow

Five Inches Of Snowstorm Reported From Some Counties

BIG BLIZZARD IS REPORTED AT KANE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 9.—Reports to the Department of Highways indicated a snowfall of from one to five inches, general throughout most of the state, today.

The heaviest snowfall was reported from Indiana, Blair, Cambria, Somerset, Northumberland, Bedford and Huntingdon counties.

At Mount Carmel five inches of snow, drifting heavily, forced anthracite mines to call inside men to the surface to help clear the mine tracks, while communication between neighboring coal camps was crippled.

More than three hundred pieces of snow removing equipment, including large rotary plows, have been ordered into service over the state, the Highway department said.

At noon all highways were reported open. Motorists were warned, however, to use chains.

Lewistown reported snow falling at the rate of three inches an hour, while the capital city was snowed under by a storm which began at daybreak.

Blizzard At Kane

KANE, Pa., March 8.—The worst blizzard of the winter is sweeping this section today. A high wind early today assumed proportions of a gale and soon whipped the swirling snow into deep drifts.

Motor vehicles are being driven with headlights burning and traffic has been slowed up almost to a walk. State highway motor and heavy tractor plows are plying the roads in this section in an effort to keep traffic moving.

Railroads also are using their heavy duty plows on the tracks radiating out of here.

Rain In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—This city and the southwestern counties had escaped the heavy snowstorm raging through most of Pennsylvania up to noon today. A heavy rain fell all morning, with indications that it might turn to snow later.

Hoover Will Not Enter Contested States In Person

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 9—Although Herbert Hoover has staked out for himself two of the hottest political fights imaginable—against the Watson organization in Indiana and the Willis organization in Ohio—he does not intend to personally invade either state in his quest of the Republican nomination, it was said on his behalf today.

INVENTOR IN HOSPITAL

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Lester J. Hendershot, inventor of a "fuelless airplane motor" which created wide comment in scientific circles recently, is a patient in Emergency hospital here, it was learned today.

Hendershot has a private suite of two rooms, and a special nurse. No one is admitted, and hospital authorities declined to give out any information as to the cause or nature of his illness.

His nurse said that the patient "is not so well today," but refused further information.

An unconfirmed rumor was circulated to the effect that the inventor had been injured by shock while experimenting with his motor. Hospital officials declined to make any comment on this report.

Bodies Of Dead Marine Aviators Await Shipment

Two United States Marine Fliers Killed As Vulture Crashes Into Plane

(International News Service)

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 9.—The bodies of two marine corps aviators who met death when a huge vulture of the Nicaraguan jungles struck their plane as they were attempting to land at the aviation field at Esteli, causing it to crash to the ground, awaited shipment here today for burial in the United States.

The victims were Captain William C. Byrd and Sergeant Rudolph A. Frankforter. Investigation of the strange accident revealed that the huge buzzard struck one of the struts of the plane, causing its left wing to collapse.

The plane was within 300 feet of the ground when the wing collapsed. Both men jumped but the accident occurred to close to the ground for their parachutes to open and save them.

Rody Marshall, Jr. In Critical State

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Rody P. Marshall, Jr., 18, for whose life physicians have been waging a great battle, was in a critical condition today following a relapse. Marshall's neck was broken in a dive off a pier at Narragansett, R. I., in 1925, and has been battling valiantly for his life since. The youth almost died yesterday, his father, a noted criminal lawyer, said.

Seek To Check Scarlet Fever Spread In Erie

Sunday Schools And Public Schools Closed By Order Of Health Officials

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., March 9.—Efforts of the city health authorities to check the spread of scarlet fever here by closing temporarily Sunday schools, as well as public schools and preventing children under 12 years from attending movies, have the endorsement of the clergy, it was announced today.

The Erie Ministerial association has adopted a resolution pledging full cooperation to the city authorities. The Sunday school closing order will affect more than 5,000 children.

One of the chief causes of the disease spreading is the mingling of children suffering mildly from scarlet fever with companions, Dr. James Smith, health officer, said.

School Board Will Not Change Time This Year

Board Members Vote For Sessions On Eastern Standard Time

PASS RESOLUTION THURSDAY NIGHT

Considerable Discussion Of Resolution Before Action Is Taken

New Castle schools will not operate on daylight savings time this spring, but will continue to operate on eastern standard time through to the summer vacation, according to a resolution passed Thursday evening, March 8, when a special meeting of the board was held.

The resolution was passed after considerable debate upon the question, practically every member taking part in it. The vote showed three members opposed to the resolution, the three being Mrs. John G. Nothdurft, Attorney Roy W. Hazen and Walter W. Duff.

Shouldn't Have Two Times.

The opposition to the resolution was summed up by Mrs. Nothdurft, who said "there should not be two times in New Castle while the schools are operating. If the industries go on daylight savings time and the schools continue on eastern standard time, it will mean different meal hours in the homes for the men of the family and the school children."

"Last year we attempted to operate on eastern standard time and found that the mothers were bitterly opposed to having the two times. I think that this question is not one which the school board should initiate, for it will lead into confusion later on."

Those voting for the measure were of the opinion that it would not result in any considerable disarrangement in the homes and the motion passed.

(It has frequently been suggested that daylight savings time in New Castle should exist only through June, July and August, instead of including May and September. This would eliminate changing the time of school sessions and would also limit daylight savings time to a three-months period during the real summer months.)

Plan Inspection Of New School

The principal and teachers of the Arthur McGill school are planning for a community meeting to be held in that building Friday evening, March 16, at 7:30.

With the completion of the new eight-room addition, this building becomes one of the more modern elementary school buildings, built to meet the needs of the present day elementary school.

The meeting March 16 will give an opportunity for the patrons of the district who cannot well visit the school during the day, to inspect the building and meet the teachers.

Movie Contracts Hold No Lure For Violinist Famed For Her Beauty

CECILIA HANSEN

By MADELIN LEOF
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 9. — Spurning the numerous "movie" contracts that have been offered her because of her dazzling blonde beauty, Cecilia Hansen, who escaped from Soviet Russia after many exciting adventures, prefers to devote herself to her violin and her music.

She is known as one of the most beautiful women on the stage, and has been called Saint Cecilia, patron saint of music.

A pupil of Leopold Auer—the famous violin teacher—she was already a brilliant musician when the revolution broke out in Russia in 1917.

"There were few concerts," Miss Hansen says. "I played on mixed bills with clowns, jugglers, dancers and even trained animals. Money fluctuated. We were paid in produce —in bread and butter and sugar and

School Board Members Figure Year's Budget At Thursday Meeting

Estimated Cost Of Operating Schools For Coming Year Is $1,100,000

Tax Millage Rate Is Not Set At Meeting; Figure Indicated

While the rate of tax for the school of New Castle for the coming year was not definitely set Thursday evening, March 8, when a special meeting was held by the school board, it was decided that the rate would be not less than 15 mills, nor more than 15½ mills. This millage is necessary to raise the estimated budget of approximately $1,100,000.000.

At first sight the new millage rate of 15 or 15½ appears to be considerable of an increase over the rate for 1927, 13¾. This is not exactly the case, however, for the actual increase in the total amount of budget for 1928-29 over 1927-28 will be about $40,000.

Board Pares Closely.

The budget meeting on Thursday evening was a long one, not adjourning until after 1 o'clock and the board slashed every possible item. Starting with an estimated budget of $1,131,269, this was pared down to $1,141,030 and at adjournment the advisability of cutting $36,000 or $50,000 from the sinking fund was discussed. This fund will be cut, the only question is

Make Protest On Rate Raise By Harmony Co.

Hearing Is Held In Pittsburgh Before Service Commission

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—With former Mayor William A. Magee of Pittsburgh as counsel, the protestants of a proposed increase in rates by the Harmony Electric Company today continued their fight before the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission.

Residents and several industrial concerns in rural sections of Beaver and Lawrence counties are affected by the proposed increase, which has been labeled "unjust and unreasonable."

Testimony today consisted of a mass of technical statements tending to prove the increase was not necessary. It was offered by Edgar Reed, Pittsburgh engineering expert. At noon Reed still was on the stand. He was the only witness.

David I. McCahill, Pittsburgh attorney, represented the Harmony Electric Company.

Today's hearing was a continuation of a previous hearing at which the testimony also was of a technical nature. Commissioner Walker will wade through the figures and statistics and present his recommendation to the commission. The decision on the case will be handed down in Harrisburg.

Mrs. Ray Pollock of Akron, O., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Mort of North Mercer street.

ABOARD MOTOR CRUISER "AMERICA", WITH LOS ANGELES-NEW YORK RACERS NEARING BAGDAD, Cal., March 9.—The mirage of $48,500 imprinted on the cloudless sky of the Mojave desert continued today to prove the lure that beckoned 150 runners to almost super-human efforts in combatting heat, wind-driven sand, thirst and foot ailments as they swung into the sixth lap of the coast-to-coast marathon.

C. C. "Cross-Country" Pyle, director general of the "bunion derby", continued to maintain his stride for 21 hours a day in keeping all details of his 3,400-mile race to New York functioning smoothly.

"This race is going to be an annual affair," Pyle declared today.

Arthur Newton, the Londoner who has spent much of his life in the diamond mining country of South Africa, continued to thrill the spectators along the right-of-way and to drill the lesson of real condition into his rivals in the event.

Britisher Leads

Despite his 44 years, the Britisher's condition is really a marvel. Completing the 32.5-mile trek from Barstow to Mojave Wells Thursday, Newton had made his elapsed time for the 165.5 miles from Los Angeles in 24 hours, 28 minutes and 30 seconds.

He came into the water hole apparently without effort, unperspiring and with only a sprinkling of alkali dust on his togs as evidence of his battle with the desert.

Olli Wanttenin of Finland retained second place in the grind by running third Thursday.

Eddie Gardner, Seattle negro, and winner of the Victorville-Barstow lap, was fourth.

When a fellow has a pal who he's known like a lot, and with whom he's traveled round from year to year, and the pal decides to wed, there is little to be said, save perhaps to heave a sigh and shed a tear. There's no use to give advice and to try to shunt him off, or remind him that he's tied himself for life, once he has his mind made up, you can argue till you're blue, but the answer is he takes himself a wife. Better trail along with him and assist him if you can, any thing you say against it will be wrong, and the time is drawing near when my friend walks down the aisle, oh believe me gentle folks it wont be long. So I'm dragging out my clothes from the moth balls on the shelf, got the spike-tail ready for the wedding tray, I'll be there to help along, or at least I think I'll be, weather's damp and up to thirty-six today.

Pass Ordinance For Rose Avenue Sanitary Sewer

Although the ordinance providing for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Rose Avenue, at the expense of the Weingartner Realty company, does not provide for house connections, the bill was passed finally today.

"Why were not the house connections to the curb put in?" asked Reeves.

"Each case must be decided on its merits" said Solicitor White.

White stated that if "we feel that there will be a house on every lot it would be right to insert the clause.

He pointed out that in two other sections where there are sanitary sewers the plots have not been built upon.

White also said that "if they change their ideas as how they will use the sewers the connections would be no good. It would be an investment lying in the ground without it being used" he said.

"I move its adoption. It is too late to turn back" said Davies. Councilman Reeves seconded the motion and it was passed finally.

Shriners Plan To Attend Butler Party

A large delegation of the members of the New Castle Shrine club are planning to attend the annual dinner and stag party given by the Syria Caravan No. 14 of Butler, which will be held at the Sterling club at Butler on Thursday evening, March 22.

A warm feeling has always existed between the New Castle Shriners and the Butler organization and each year a large delegation from here has attended the annual event. Thus it is expected that a representative turnout will be present at Butler this year. Anyone wishing information concerning the event should get in touch with Walter DeArment, secretary of the New Castle club.

means that these sections must be formally annexed some day. This is the way that other cities show growth—by just such annexations.

An amusing incident happened yesterday afternoon. Two mothers, wheeling their Young Ideas in perambulators, met in front of the P. & O. building. They were fast friends. Almost bumping their carriages together each made a dive for the other, exclaiming "What a sweet baby!" or words to that effect. And Pa Newc thinks that both of them were thinking "Gee! Mine's cuter than that freckled brat."

There is one little squirrel on Lincoln avenue that has a great time each noon, reports a lady friend of the column. Each day, as she goes home to lunch, she sees it frolicking about the trees, and always its cheeks are much puffed out from carrying so many nuts about.

As Pa Newc sees the four giant construction jobs now going on in the city: The George Washington junior high school, the Jameson Memorial hospital, the First National Bank of Lawrence County and the addition to the Lawrence Savings & Trust company's building, and thinks that almost all of the construction work was done during the winter months, he marvels at the speed at which the buildings are going up. In former years, when winter came, contractors called their men off the jobs until spring came around again. But this spring will find all of the buildings ready for the interior finish.

A thing which is noticeable at the Jameson Memorial hospital job is the long line of parked cars on West Garfield avenue. For the 60 men on the job there must be at least 35 automobiles. And you can draw your own conclusions.

how much. When the board finishes its cutting it will be possible to raise the budget with a rate of not more than 15½ mills.

Three reasons stand out for the apparent increase; first, the decrease in assessed valuations in New Castle. In spite of many large new buildings in the city, the assessors cut the assessed valuation in the city $1,600,000, the valuation certified to by them for tax purposes being $56,682,810. With the occupation assessment of $3,287,070 this brings the total assessable valuation to $53,395,740, a decrease of $1,600,000 from last year.

The second reason is the increases in salary of school teachers set down by the state law, and the third reason is the fact that this year there is but slight turnover in the teaching personnel. In past years where old teachers have left the system and new ones taken on, there has been a considerable saving. This year the vacancies will be few and the increases provided by state law must be met.

Few Other Increases.

There are few increases of any size in the budget for 1928-29 except the teachers' salaries. In some cases the board pared the budget almost beyond the point of safety, doing so because of the vital necessity this year of keeping costs as low as possible.

Every item in the budget was gone over carefully and every increase subjected to the closest scrutiny. Other cuts are expected to be made when the board meets on Thursday, March 15, for the members are determined that the millage shall not be more than 15½.

The gross budget total shown without the cut in the sinking fund which will be made, is $1,141,030. This will be cut at least $36,000. Of the gross budget not all will be raised by taxation as there are several sources of income besides this. The state appropriation will amount to $128,450. Tuitions from other districts is estimated at $26,000. Sales, rentals and refunds are estimated at $3,000. Interest on deposits is estimated at $10,000. The tax to be derived from the special occupation tax of $5 per capita is estimated at $119,335.

The net budget to be raised from property tax is now shown at $854,245, and this will be decreased to approximately $800,000 at the next meeting. The total of the budget itemized follows:

Teachers' salaries	$ 663,594
Janitors' salaries	68,820
General salaries	27,490
Text books, library books	19,852
Supplies	31,000
Repairs, ordinary and extraordinary	15,000
Water	5,190
Fuel	22,918
Light and power	14,410
Telephones	1,674
Rentals	100
Insurance	4,150
Miscellaneous	3,500
Collectors' commissions	9,500
Exonerations	25,000
State retirement fund	16,500
New equipment	11,832
Total public school	$ 930,530
Sinking fund (to be cut)	210,000
Workmen's compensation	500
Grand total	$1,141,030

Fled in Rowboat

"There was only one way out of this uncertain existence—escape. We engaged a little rowboat and on a dark night in 1921 we were rowed across the Baltic sea to Finland. After being afloat on a stormy sea for 12 hours, we found ourselves in front of the fortress of Kronstadt. The powerful searchlights were playing right on our boat and we thought we were lost. By what seemed a miracle we managed to get away from the lights, and in the morning found ourselves safe on the shores of Finland. Then my career on the continent began."

Cecilia Hansen now plans to remain in America. She is a native of Russia and Russian is her tongue. Her grandfather, however, was a Dane, and it is from the Hansen side of the family that she inherits her Norse name and her Scandinavian beauty. Her husband, a Russian, has been her accompanist in Europe.

Wears Simple Gowns

On the stage Miss Hansen wears gowns of simple beauty. "The woman violinist," she says, "must consider two things, appearance and comfort. It is the duty of the artist to look as attractive as she can. For a singer, this is easy. She may wear a hat if her style of beauty demands it, or she may change costumes to conform with the music. This is not possible for the violinist. She may not wear a hat, and if she changes her gown she is considered spectacular.

"The violinist must be dignified and free to play. I have solved the question by wearing Grecian robes which are the most sensible and beautiful. They are simple, creamy and white, and cut on plain lines. Sleeves are a nuisance and I often eliminate them completely. I think a true artist must appeal through music, not through fashions."

shortly afterward went into the mercantile business with his father.

While one of the outstanding merchants in the world he was also a great aviation enthusiast. It was his dream, he declared a few years ago, that there would be aircraft travel between London and New York so that he could spend the week-end in England and be back here for Monday. He backed Commander Richard E. Byrd in his successful flight over the North Pole and his recent non-stop flight from New York to France.

Through Wanamaker's generosity many historical sites and monuments in and around New York have been preserved. He was author of the idea for the "Eternal Light" memorial to the World War dead in Madison Square and was largely instrumental in gathering funds for its erection.

In Many Clubs

He was a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, and the Sulgrave Institution, Washington. He belonged to clubs in New York, Philadelphia, Paris and elsewhere and was a director in many business enterprises. At one time he was president of the American Art Association of Paris.

He was formerly Consul General for Paraguay and Consul for Uruguay and the Dominican Republic at Philadelphia. He was at numerous times decorated in appreciation for his benefactions and services. Great Britain made him a Commander of the Royal Victoria Order; Italy named him a Grand Officer of the Order of the Crown; Serbia decorated him as an officer of the Order of St. Savam and Venezuela a member of the Order of the Liberator.

Wanamaker was married twice. His first wife was Fernanda Henry of Philadelphia, who later died. He was married a second time to Violet Cruger, of Providence, R. I., and New York City.

The wealthy merchant prince was an untiring public servant. He took special interest in the New York City police department and at one time served as special deputy commissioner and president of the board of deputy police commissioners. He was a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York and also acted as executor for the estates of his father, John Wanamaker, and of Thomas D. Wanamaker. In 1918 he was appointed executor of the estate of James Gordon Bennett, noted editor.

One of Wanamaker's countless gifts enabled the American Scenic and Historical Society to secure a portion of the original Port Washington, a relic of the Revolutionary war.

He was also known as a music lover. His auditorium in the Wanamaker store here was the scene of concerts of the highest order. It was his delight to acquire rare and fine old musical instruments and then have them played by artists for the benefit of the public. At one such concert the instruments were valued at $500,000.

Wanamaker's business associates were stunned by his unexpected death. Grover Whalen, an official of the Wanamaker store here, said:

"He was the greatest merchant of the country—and the most humane."

To Seek Agreement With Townships For Fire Service

Fire Chief Charles Lynn today, in his annual report to members of city council, said that fire equipment in the city of New Castle has made 13 trips outside the city to fight fires during the past 12 months.

He was directed by councilmen today to confer with township supervisors relative to getting an agreement with them whereby the city would be reimbursed in a measure for the risk of damaging equipment or injuries to firemen.

Gillespie Is Served With Legal Papers In Twenty-One Cases

Mayor William Gillespie today said in council session that he is the "most arrested man" in the city as papers have been served against the city of New Castle, of which the mayor is the head, in which he is informed to appear March 15, at the office of Alderman Claude Mantz as the result of the Spinella raid case. The 21 persons who were arrested, through Attorney Clyde Gibson are trying to recover their money—five dollars, placed as a forfeit and when 18 of them did not appear for trial, accepted as a fine.

It appears that police raided the Spinella pool room, on a Sunday, where they alleged gambling was in progress. They denied the charge, through their attorney at the hearing in police court.

Only three of the 21 appeared and the mayor found them guilty, inflicted fines and the 18 remaining forfeits were taken by fines.

Attorney Clyde Gibson took out a certiorai and the case in court has not yet been decided.

Yesterday the mayor was served with 21 papers in calling for the return of the money.

The papers were filed by debonair "Rolly" Morrow, constable of the always happy Alderman Claude Mantz.

Of course the mayor didn't like this at all but today he did not show a trace of annoyance.

He brought the matter up before city council and they all agreed to "stand behind our mayor."

They instructed Solicitor White and the mayor to procure special counsel to fight the case.

Upon recommendation of Mayor Gillespie and Solicitor White, Attorney Wylie McCaslin will be secured.

White stated that the case is full of legal technicalities and that it will require considerable study and work and White has his hands full with city legal matters.

During the discussion today it developed that the present forfeit or bail system at the police station is contrary to law—but is operated for humanitarian reasons.

According to the proper procedure considerable red tape must be gone through before a prisoner, arrested for a trivial offense can obtain his liberty.

The present system, while wrong, was adopted so that men who had only committed a slight breach of law, though arrested, could leave the jail after putting up a forfeit.

"You can put up a cash bail but it takes a lot of red tape" said Solicitor White today and the mayor would be the only one allowed to accept it. Police now accept forfeits and release prisoners for hearings within five days.

Deaths Of The Day

Mrs. Edward L. Campbell.

Mrs. Edith T. Campbell, aged 34, wife of Edward L. FREE OF STOMACH MISERY AND GLAD HE GOT KONJOLA

"It Is Wonderful", He Says; Completely Restored His Health In Every Way

It was predicted less than three weeks ago that the people of New Castle would very quickly find out about the merits of this celebrated new medicine, Konjola, which the Konjola Man is introducing and explaining in person to large crowds each day at the Love & Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle.

Report after report is being received from men and women of this city, describing the remarkable benefits derived from the use of this surprising new compound. For instance, just a few days ago, Mr. Elmer E. Cooper, R. R. No. 1, this city, made the following statement:

"Konjola is wonderful", said Mr. Cooper, "It has restored my health in every way, and I feel it is only right to indorse such a medicine to the public.

"My trouble started about twenty years ago with awful stomach trouble. My condition became worse as each month passed, and I seemed to be dragging through life half-sick all the time. Sharp indigestion pains would come over me after every meal. What little food I managed to eat would cause intense misery. I would bloat up with gas, that pressed against my heart making it palpitate and flutter so much I often thought it would stop beating. I began losing several days work and finally a severe attack of lumbago compelled me to give up my position entirely. Terrible backaches and dizzy spells kept me in constant misery. I never could sleep like other people and most of the time I would lie awake, suffering from awful pains.

"That was exactly my condition before I found Konjola, but since I have taken this medicine, everything is different. In a few days I had more energy and seemed to have new feelings of health in general. My appetite is wonderful and no matter what I eat, there is not a sign of indigestion. The bloating spells never come over me and the pains around my heart are completely ended. I have returned to work as the lumbago disappeared soon after I started taking Konjola. My health is so much better I hardly know what to make of it. My wife was also benefited by Konjola. She had a severe case of neuritis and stomach trouble that made it almost impossible for her to move around the house. She took Konjola the same time as myself and now every touch of neuritis and stomach trouble is gone.

"Yes, Konjola completely ended my health troubles, and I am feeling like a different person entirely. I gladly indorse this medicine because I know what it will do."

The Konjola Man is at the Love & Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

BANQUET SPEAKERS BANNED

A SORT of movement against speeches at public dinners was recently born and is rapidly gathering momentum, if the approval of those who attend banquets can be called momentum.

Every banqueter has had the idea long in his mind but the first to put it into effect was a woman toastmaster who perfunctorily announced there would be no speeches and confined the after-dinner ceremonies to a story, a limerick and two songs.

Those who sympathize with the sufferers from too many and too long speeches at banquets will admit that after-dinner speeches could be safely banned, but some of these see no improvement in the substitution of amateur vaudeville for oratory. One can close eyes and ears when a dull speaker gets going interminably, but what could be done if he offered to entertain the audience with an exhibition of ventriloquism or an imitation of barnyard noises?

The reform, if it ever comes, would seem to be a matter of moderation and balance. There seems to ge a definite trend toward fewer and shorter speeches at dinners. Frequently speakers, to the delight of the diners, reveal the fact that they are like the man who explained he didn't want to make a speech, but simply had something to say.

Long ago people went to banquets to enjoy and participate in brilliant conversation around the table. Perhaps prohibition and the decadence of after-dinner speaking will make conversation at dinner more popular and easier to listen to.

PENNSYLVANIA JOINS IN THE CRIME CRUSADE

THIS state has not been as prompt as some of the other commonwealths in taking formal action for the better suppression of crime, but the delay may prove desirable because the conference of jurists, district attorneys and experts, which has been called to meet in Philadelphia next month, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, will have at its disposal the legislation of other states and the experience which has been gained in trying to put it in operation.

Probably never before in the history of Pennsylvania have we had anything that will compare with this proposed gathering which has for its purpose a discussion of the state's legal machinery for the disposition of criminal cases.

The full bench of the supreme court and of the superior court and more than one hundred of the criminal court judges are to participate in talks which are expected to result in improvement of the laws and the speeding up of justice in the criminal courts.

While this is going on the district attorneys of the state are to meet for the consideration of the same problems. And, finally, the members of the crime commission, which is to recommend bills to the next legislature, will also convene in Philadelphia in order to get the benefit of the assembled wisdom of the jurists and the prosecuting officers of the state.

The importance of these gatherings cannot be over-estimated. The chief justice of the Supreme court, the attorney general of the state and former District Attorney Fox have been active in promoting the meeting and are confident that it will bring about practical and positive results. Many subjects will be debated, such as the desirability of permitting judges to choose jurors in murder trials; the wisdom of enacting a law to give life sentences to criminals convicted of a fourth felony and the repeal or amendment of the Ludlow act which provides for minimum and maximum sentences.

One of the difficulties about improving our criminal laws is that much of the discussion comes from well-meaning persons who are not familiar with the practical working of the statutes. Obstacles of this kind will not confront those who are to participate in the forthcoming gathering. It will be a meeting of experts, men whose lives have been devoted to the law and the courts.

She Talks of Getting Married.

So you would marry him and very soon?
A lovely day in early May or June?
Weddings my dear make very pretty scenes.
But have you really thought what marriage means?

Here is a sailboat at the open sea.
The breeze is just as gentle as can be.
If ne'er a cloud shall fret that opal sky.
We'd safely get to Europe by and by.

I wouldn't venture out on such a trip;
E'er we arrived a storm would sink our ship.
The journey is too far for vessels frail.
Only the toutest hulls can brave a gale.

Well, marriage is a journey through the years.
You start with smiles but time will bring the tears.
Is yours a love which quickly can be wrecked?
Or can it brave the storms you must expect?

Be wise, my dear and think it out with care.
Will he be true when the days are not so fair?
Can you be true when hopes and dreams go wrong?
If so, set sail, although the journey's long.

ONE STRANGE THING—

About success is that it can only be held by constant struggle.
About religion is that as soon as we boast we have it, we lose it.
Above love is that we cannot have it without giving it away.
About friends is that they disappear as soon as we begin to use them.
About happiness is that the less we think about it the more we have it.
About laughter is that it can hide so much that is not funny.
About God is that He knows the worst about us and still believes the best.

While curiosity may be th' undoin' of an occasional cat, th' undoin' o' th' average speed fiend is over-confidence!

Old Mother Earth is getting just a wee bit more of sunshine as Father Time clicks off the revolving centuries, we are told. The German Reichstag has just defined the difference between a tip and bribery. The former means something inspired by the giver's kindness but that it becomes bribery when accepted for performance of an official duty. Generally speaking a tip is bribery in the strict sense of the word, as it is an effort to secure additional services for which you have not paid.

My Dear Jake:

I received a postal from your Dad when he was at Hot Springs, where he was getting boiled out. The water was effective on him and gave him so much ambition that he moved to Houston. A friend of mine at Houston wrote me that he was taken for Ex-Senator Bailey and played the game all the way through. What he didn't see wasn't worth seeing.

He moved from there to Dallas and then to San Antonio, one of the most beautiful cities in the United States, and his history of the city was interesting to Matilda and I.

He then went to Laredo to attend the Bull Fight. He had nothing on Matilda and I because last Saturday two of our bulls got out in the barnyard and had a regular fight. When Matilda and I were at Laredo the water from the cactus plant was reviving and after you drank it you did not care whether you had a Bull Fight or any other kind of fight. In fact, you were just chucked full of fight.

His heart is melting just right. He advised me to give his butter and eggs that he gets from us each week to the poor. I thought Matilda was as poor as anyone and I gave them to her.

What Is Man's Destiny?

George And Kemal.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Ibn Saud, king of the Hedjaz, sultan of Nejd, until now friend and ally of Great Britain, turns against his friend and protector, King George. Britain may face "a holy war" in Arabia, where Ibn Saud, quite modern, rides rapidly over the desert with his 24 wives and their servants in 24 automobiles, following behind him.

Let us be grateful that nobody loaded any Irak mandate on this country. They almost handed us Turkey. Kemal Pasha would have been a handful for our dignified Washington crowd.

However, Ibn Saud and his desert associates, if hostility persists, will have some surprises. At Irak, the British have 45 bombing planes, 12 Bristol fighting planes and air reinforcements are held ready in Egypt, Jerusalem and India.

Also the British have tested successfully, the biggest all-metal monoplane on earth. Its wings spread 150 feet, it carries 20 people, weighs 30,090 pounds, has wheels 7 feet 6 inches high.

A few such modern birds of prey would make Ibn Saud and his 24 ladies thoughtful.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, able supreme court justice, who realizes that the constitution was made by and for men, not men for the constitution, was 87 years old yesterday. He continues working, obeying his motto, "Rest is not the destiny of man." A big monument would reward Justice Holmes, if he could tell what the destiny of man really IS, how we got here, whence we came, whither we go from here, what happens after we go.

But about such questions a learned supreme court justice knows as little as an Eskimo watching for seals in an ice hole.

Three Christian ladies are on trial in Turkey for converting little Turkish girls to Christianity.

Turkish law says Mohammedanism is part of Turkish government. Attacks on it are treasonable.

In some parts of this country if Turks were caught converting little girls to Mohammedanism, they would probably be lynched. The Turks are more moderate.

American teachers testify that no religious pictures were shown in the schools, only portraits of George Washington and Mustapha Kemal.

It would be interesting to know what the father of this country thinks about the new father of Turkey.

Secretary of Labor Davis says that a survey shows "an improvement in the country's business conditions," and "an upward trend to employment." That is encouraging, but not definite.

The business of government, and of powerful men that make up our government, is to provide work for men willing to work, and with decent pay.

Plenty of work needs doing, and there is plenty of money to pay for it.

There is no reason why men need be idle, and those in power should realize the truth of Senator Wagner's saying that "involuntary idleness is as inexcusable as involuntary slavery."

A new, violent outbreak of influenza worries Japan: 500,000 are ill, thousands have died. The emperor, himself a victim of the disease, worries about the serious condition of his baby daughter.

Nature seems especially savage in her treatment of the courageous Japanese nation, floods, earthquakes, fires and now a violent plague.

Some will say, foolishly, "if you fight one disease, smallpox for instance, and conquer it, other diseases just as bad will come. Providence wants people to suffer; it does them good."

Providence wants nothing of the kind, but wants human beings to have common sense and take care of themselves. The worst epidemics of today are as nothing compared with plagues of other years, such as the "black death" which came out of Asia and killed nearly half the people in Europe in a short time.

The only orang-utang born in captivity is dead in Berlin, one month old. Doctors found the baby's ribs broken, its lungs crushed. The orang-utang mother, born in captivity, bounced the baby up and down on the floor to amuse herself.

That baby orang-utang could sympathize with some "society babies" whose mothers, in a sort of financial captivity behind nicely gilded bars, don't know how to take care of babies and can't even nurse them. This does not refer to many good women PHYSICALLY unable to nurse a baby.

CAPILLARY ART

Art is coming under the influence of democracy.

In former times the great artists painted pictures only for churches and rich men's palaces.

Statuary was intended to adorn royal courts and the mansions of the opulent and the private parks of the nobles.

Nowadays statues are being erected in public places where even the most humble and obscure person may admire them. Pictures are hung in museums which have their free days when the public is generously invited.

It is said that Michelangelo and Raphael and the other artists of that time generally painted only saints or archbishops. Gradually artists discovered that the common life of the people contained subjects quite as interesting and picturesque as the lives of the more favored.

In literature Dickens made quite an innovation when he turned his pen toward the obscure and lowly.

We all want to be rich, of course, and famous, but rich men are not as interesting as they used to be. The most noted monuments to the heroes of the late war were those of the unknown soldier. It was a war won, by the way, by the heroism of the common recruit and not by the startling genius of some Napoleon.

It is a question whether a rich man should build himself a fine house, from the windows of which he can only look out upon the abodes of the poor, or build better houses for the poor that he may regard them from his windows.

Men of wealth are gradually turning their attention toward replacing the slums by better habitations.

Altogether it looks as if art, if it is to have a firm foundation, must rest upon the basis of the despired demos.

It is the fashion of the intellectuals to deride the public and to think that only a few chosen ones can appreciate or be benefitted by the works of art.

The newest invasion into the ranks of art, if it can be caled an art, is the motion picture. This is the most capillary of all arts. It gives to the least and lowest and provides him entertainment which heretofore was for those only who could pay from a dollar up for a seat at the theatres.

For this reason it appears that the moving picture industry, resting as it does upon the appreciation of the whole public, is firmly settled and is in line with democracy.

The Amazing thing in the United States is that in spite of the rate fixing by the Interstate Commerce Commission, in spite of the increase of wages paid to railroad employees and in spite of the Recapture Provision in the Law by which the Federal Government practically confiscates any money made by the railroads more than the percent of profit named in the Act, the Railroads of America are giving to the Public adequate and efficient service.

By purchasing a new locomotive every nine days, a new passenger car every six days, and a new freight car every two and a half hours, during the last five years, the Southern Pacific has more than kept pace with the rapid growth of the Pacific Coast. In the years 1923-1927, inclusive, the Pacific lines of the Southern Pacific put into service 194 new locomotives of all types, at a cost of $15,197,969. During the same period 318 new passenger cars costing $9,519,844 were required, and 16,699 freight cars were purchased at a cost of $36,388,174. This total does not include 13,647 new refrigerator cars purchased at a cost of $44,380,933, by the Pacific Fruit Express, in which the Southern Pacific owns a half interest.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

HE INHERITED IT

Watching the drummer or the saxophonist in a jazz band you wonder how he got that way. He is not crazy, any more than the folks who cavort in the "Charleston" or the "Black Bottom" are crazy. Science, you see, has found out all about this. Addressing a group of British scientists Dr. G. P. Bidder says: "We owe our dancing and our sense of rhythm to the actions we made when we were tiny blobs of jelly in the sea millions of years ago." So jazz comes from the jelly fish.

SO THAT'S THE REASON

If farmers didn't joy ride so much, if they worked harder and kept up, and after their farms as they should, they would all make a fair profit. Those are hard words, but they come from T. P. Hopkins, who owns a 2,000-acre wheat farm in Kansas. Says Hopkins:

"Every farmer who spends his time tending to his farm is making a go of it. Most of the unsuccessful ones buy automobiles on the installment plan before they get their crops harvested. Lack of success that these farmers have is due to laziness and shiftlessness."

It is probably true that the average farmer does not work as hard as the average city business man—but he often does a kind of work that the city business man couldn't or wouldn't do.

CHEWING GUM VALUES

There are lots of apparently trivial things in this world that have real values, only most of us haven't found it out. A Chicago big game hunter, recently back from Africa, says his party took 70 pounds of chewing gum into the jungle.

"What it meant to us can't be estimated," he said. "We got along on half the water ordinarily needed—and good water is hard to get."

SELFISH MOODS

Our indulgence in moods is probably the most selfish thing we do. Just because we didn't sleep well or the toast was burned we cloud the whole atmosphere of our office or lower the pleasant temperature of optimism by our mood. And it is especially indefensible to inflict our tempers and temperaments on our friends.

It isn't your friend's fault that you have an ugly disposition. Is it fair to make him pay for it? Reasonable unselfishness demands that you keep your bad moods to yourself. If you can't do that, keep out of sight. Nobody wants you that way.

C. B. D. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

THE MAIL BAG

Will H. Donaldson, Grayville, Illinois, comments on my recent remarks about New York towers in high winds. He says he and his wife and daughter spent a very windy day, about 1904, watching a yacht race report in a window at Twenty-third street and Broadway. Shortly after the race was finished and the crowd dispersed, a stone was dislodged from the coping of the building and fell 20 stories into Fifth avenue. Of such escapes we hear little, but they do happen. Whenever anything or anybody falls or jumps from a high building, numerous persons have narrow escapes, even though somebody is killed. I know a man who has been four times near a spot where heavy objects have fallen from tall buildings. He wonders when it's going to happen again.

Mrs. William T. Fowler, Lexington, Ky., has sent in a part of "The Sampler", a poem that another correspondent was seeking recently. So has Mary Marder, Helena Station, Ky.

E. H. Zumbrusi, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, writes to say that one should go bareheaded and massage the scalp frequently, especially the bald spots, in order to grow hair. I've told my readers heretofore that I can't be doctrinaire about this business of growing hair, but that I tried going bareheaded for three years, and liked it. My hair grew and flourished, whether because of the bareheadedness or from some other cause, but my reputation for sanity and soberness suffered.

Perhaps the bareheaded fad has spread sufficiently by this time so that one may indulge in it, even in small towns, without injury to reputation. I do not know. But when I lived in a small town and went bareheaded, all my pearls of wisdom were trampled into the dust by the people, who said, "Oh, that fellow! He runs around the streets bareheaded! You can't pay any attention to what such a nut says."

And they meant it. As a matter of fact, I never ran around nor upon the streets. I am no runner. Running has not agreed with me for 20 years. But that was the way the townsmen put it. "He runs around bareheaded." They simply could not visualize a bareheaded fellow walking sanely from place to place. Going bareheaded was such a crazy freak that whoso indulged it must of necessity be mad enough to run when others walked or drove their cars.

Some thousands of Americans now go bareheaded the year around, and other thousands in summer season only. I do not advocate it, nor do I condemn it, as a custom. It is altogether a matter of personal preference. But I do not think that the bareheaded ones are necessarily cracked because they do not wear the customary head covering.

Bank Swindler Is Given Release From Pittsburgh Jail

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Edward A. Goodfellow, one of the principals in the famous Brotherhood savings and Trust company bond swindle here was released from the county jail today, completing a sentence of six months for receiving stolen property.

"Me for Hot Springs and a Turkish bath," was Goodfellow's only remark as he walked past the great iron doors.

The state accused him of buying a large part of the $320,000 entrusted to him by Charles E. Knapp, who obtained that sum from the president of the bank for bonds which he never turned over. Knapp is serving 18 to 36 months in the penitentiary.

Extra Employes In Revenue Office On Job At Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Extra employes started work in the office of the collection of internal revenue here today to help handle the annual March rush in the filing of income tax returns.

D. B. Heiner, collector of internal revenue, said it was a noticeable fact that hundred of persons are becoming educated in filing the returns, and that a great majority are sent in by mail, thus reducing last minute rushes.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

AT TEN O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING.

"Kip, Kip! Cheer up, dearie! Cheer up, dearie!" "Chip! Chip! Fitz! Fitz! Fitz! We-sir, Sir-wee!" "Hewit! Hewit! Check, Check!" "Whip-poor-will! Whip-poor will!"

It was ten o'clock in the morning. The sun was shining as bright as it could shine on a day in March and the snow was melting under its warm rays and running in little rivulets into the brook.

In the garden Robin Redbreast was very busy scratching up an earthworm for his luncheon.

Up the elm tree Redheaded Woodpecker was starting off on his midday round, his beak well sharpened, two punish the wicked borers if he should find any, while Nuthatch was on the lookout for any sly thief that had thought to find a hiding place in the bark.

In the honeysuckle vine that clambered over the garden wall the birds were giving a concert at least that is what Peter supposed!

The boy was sure most of his friends must be performing. He was certain that he heard Robin's cherry song—and, no—he couldn't be mistaken in Song Sparrow's clear notes.

Oriole, too, was doing his best to announce his presence with his "Hewit! Hewit!" although it was early in the season for him to make his appearance. As for Whip-poor-will, who else could quaver in just that way or lose his breath before the last note so that one was never quite sure whether he was going to catch it again in time to finish the tribal call or not? There couldn't be a bit of doubt about it. An operatic performance must be going on.

"My, how beautifully they are singing!" remarked the boy aloud and to no one in particular. "I don't believe the birds would care a bit if I walked over to hear them the better. It is such fun to watch them, too—their throats flutter, their feathers ruffle up and they get so excited. If they don't like my being here, they can tell me. But I am going to take a chance anyhow."

So down the garden path Peter hurried. He had gone but a short distance when he heard a sound that made him catch his breath with fear—not fear for himself, but for the birds.

"Me-ouw! Me-ouw! Me-ouw!" Sharp and shrill came the cry. Some cat was on the warpath and danger threatened the lovely singers.

Hushed now were their sweet voices. Perhaps already something terrible had happened to one of them—or it may be that they were just afraid. If Peter hurried he might be in time to save his feathered friends from the cruel jaws of their enemy. "Me-ouw! Me-ouw! Me-ouw. Again that dreadful squall.

The boy took to his heels ,ran as fast as his legs would carry him and arrived beathless at the honeysuckle vine. Not a bird in sight! It couldn't be possible that they had all flown away so quickly. There must have been so many of them and Peter had been watching. How could every one disappear without him catching a glimpse of them.

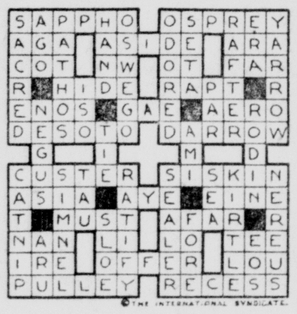

Then Peter saw a bird perched on the vine—a large fellow dressed like a Quaker in a suit of gray. Evidently he alone had not feared to face the cat. By the way, where was the cat?

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

New Spring suits, correctly cut in latest style with broad shoulders, trim waist lines, and added length — two and three-button single and double-breasted models with peaked, semi-peaked or notch lapels —new weaves in medium weight for early spring wear—cassimere of fine texture, sturdy silky worsteds, rugged twist weaves, and cheviots in newest shades of gray, tan, brown, blue.

Established 1879

IF there is a man in town who still harbors the thought that Richman's Clothes, because of their low price, are not up to his standard in style, woolen quality and workmanship, we ask him to pause for a moment, in his walk across town, and look at the spring suits and topcoats displayed in our windows. Then step in and examine these fine clothes—try them on—judge them by any standard you like. Tell us, frankly, whether you have ever seen their equal in value giving.

Men who consider long wear the most important factor in clothes buying will find in Richman's Clothes the sturdy weaves and honest tailoring that stand hard service.

ALL $22.50

The economies of scientific volume production and direct-from-factory selling makes this outstanding value possible—any suit, topcoat or tuxedo suit at one price.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT.

Do you ever decide that as the household exchequer is low, you will do no marketing today? You will make a meal of just what you have in the house? It taxes one's ingenuity, sometimes as much as it does to feed unexpected company, but it is interesting. Of course an emergency shelf or at least a goodly supply of staples are necessary or it simply can't be done. Bacon is usually on hand so we'll use that and a can of pineapple. If not pineapple, there are apples and we'll have apples and bacon instead of pineapple and bacon. The latter is newer however.

Bacon with Pineapple
Mashed Potatoes
Salad Hot Biscuits
Pop Corn Fudge
Coffee

Today's Recipes.

Crisp Bacon with Pineapple—Fry 12 strips of bacon, pouring off the fat as it forms in order that the bacon may be dry and crisp. Remove to a hot platter and keep hot. Season a little flour with salt and pepper. Dip six slices of pineapple into the flour and cover both sides. Brown in a very little hot bacon fat.

Salad—The salad will depend on what you may find in your vegetable cupboard or refrigerator. Suppose you find a small piece of cabbage, a few carrots, onions, possibly a little canned or cooked vegetable left from a former meal. They may be chopped and combined into a good salad, with mayonnaise or other favorite dressing.

Suggestion.

In boiling fish, allow ten minutes to the pound after the water has begun to simmer.

Mother Who Killed Her Two Children May Not Recover

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Burdened with the loss of his two small children who came to death at the hands of their mother, William Ward, the husband and father, today held no malice against Catherine Ward, who is near death in a hospital. After killing William, Jr., 3 years old, and Dorothy May, 8 months, Mrs. Ward slashed her wrists and swallowed poison tablets.

Young Ward could not conceal his great grief over the dual and probable triple tragedy which with a single stroke banished happiness from his modest little home, but his chief concern at present is over his wife. He prays for her recovery, like the devoted husband neighbors say he always has been.

In the course of an interview, the subject of Mrs. Ward's criminal responsibility, should she recover, was mentioned in the husband's presence. Mrs. Ward already is booked at police headquarters on the technical "suspicious person" charge.

"The police!" her husband exclaimed, as though no thought of the law's intervention had entered his mind before. "You don't think they would hold her, do you?"

"She didn't know what she was doing. She couldn't have harmed a hair in their heads, if she had known.

"No mother ever loved her little ones more than Catherine. There never was a more devoted mother.

"Catherine hasn't been really well since Dorothy May was born. Recently she worried considerably over little Billie. He has been in poor health, too. It was just too much for her. Her nerves must have snapped."

America's Foremost Love Mentor Unmasks Jazz-Age Wedlock In Gripping Drama of Youth

AT THE CAPITOL MON., TUES. & WED.

Lowell Sherman and Sally O'Neill in "The Mad Hour"

The dangers of too hasty marriage in these days of wild parties among certain classes of the younger generation is vividly pointed out in "Mad Hour," the adaptation of Elinor Glyn's stirring novel, "The Man and the Moment," produced by Allan Dwan and presented by Robert Kane for First National Pictures.

In the film, Donald Reed, son of a millionaire, and Sally O'Neil, daughter of a taxi driver, are wed at a 2 a. m. "gin marriage," with Reed so befuddled that he didn't know what he was doing.

It is to eliminate just this kind of unsober entrance into wedlock that the legislature of California recently passed the so-called "anti-gin-marriage" bill, which makes it necessary for those intending to wed to file three days' notice of intention with the county clerk. Statistics show that the law has fractionally reduced the number of marriages per thousand since it went into effect, and public officials also believe in coming months it will materially reduce the number of annulments and divorces.

"Mad Hour" is a story of jazz-loving, careless youth, going a mile-a-minute clip, and in addition to Miss O'Neil and Reed features Alice White, Lowell Sherman, Norman Trevor and others. It was directed by Joseph C. Boyle.

State Highway Patrolman Will Be At Auto Show

To demonstrate adjusting of headlights, and to answer all questions pertaining to legal headlight devices and their adjustment, Patrolman Zeitler of the State Highway Patrol, has been assigned by the Department of Highways to the New Castle Auto show, which will be held in the dining and ball rooms of the Scottish Rite cathedral, March 22 to 24, according to word received by Ray F. Hall, executive secretary of the New Castle Auto Dealers association.

The patrolman will also answer all questions on the new motor code, which became effective January 1.

NEW CASTLE BUTLER AND JEANNETTE W. J. OFFUTT CO. NEW CASTLE BUTLER AND JEANNETTE

Senator Walsh Seen As A Militant Dry Thrust Against Smith

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, is a Democratic presidential possibility for the singular reason that he and Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York are of the same religion.

Or, at any rate, he is much more of a possibility that he would be if this reason did not exist.

To pretend that the New York governor is not opposed on religious grounds, for the Houston nomination by a certain element in the Democratic party, would be ridiculous.

He has opposition, also, on the grounds that he's a wet and a Tammanyite.

These triple oppositions overlap to some extent, but by no means completely. That is to say, of his opponents, as a wet, and a Tammanyite, a goodly number are most exceedingly anxious to clear themselves of any suspicion that the religious count weighs with them.

The question naturally arises, in the minds of Democrats of this way of thinking—

What notable follower of Jefferson is available, of Smith's own faith, whom the party could nominate in evidence of its freedom from religious prejudice, who is neither a wet nor a Tammanyite?

Senator Walsh's name automatically suggests itself.

Tom Walsh and Al Smith are co-religionists.

Walsh, of course, is not a Tammanyite.

Not a dryer member sits in congress.

It's a commonplace that plenty of congressional wets and drys are wet or dry as a mere matter of political expediency—would flop from one side or the other in a minute, at the first assurance of a reversal of sentiment on the part of a majority of the voters who elect them.

Tom Walsh is a dry in principle.

Montana has showed signs in recent elections, which some interpret as hinting at a wetter tendency. Walsh hasn't been affected by them one iota. He makes no secret of his inherent dryness—if its costs him his seat in the senate. He'll come to Washington as a dry, or he'll stay home a dry. He's a dry, no matter what follows.

He's a Democrat of the same type that he's a dry — militantly, violently so.

The senator was a high school principal many years ago, and he looks like one yet.

His face is severe, unsmiling. He has no sense of humor.

His brow's deeply corrugated perpendicularly.

His clipped gray mustache—it was a walrus pattern when he first came to the senate, but it's closely trimmed now—reveals a stern, thinlipped mouth.

He has a gimlet eye—the kind that looks right through a culprit.

Culprits are the people Tom Walsh is always on the trail of.

Woe betide a culprit when Senator Walsh gets after him. He might just as well give up, lie right down, and take what's coming to him.

Consider the oil cases. Patiently, tirelessly, overlooking no clews, missing never a thumb print, relentless as fate, the Montana solon has kept tight on the heels of that oil crowd for four years now, and there are no more indications of a let-up on his part now than the day he started.

True, nobody's in jail yet, but does anybody suppose those oil folks wouldn't have been fit to jump in the Potomac early in 1924, if they'd realized what was ahead of them?

What wonder that the "power interests" yelled bloody murder when they saw Walsh beginning to move in their direction!

The senator has a great mind for the unravelling of skeins—the following up of the devious.

He's a remarkable lawyer—a wonderful prosecutor.

The soul of probity himself, he hates the man whom he believes to be an evil-doer, with a personal hatred, and it's a labor of love to him to expose his misdeeds.

As a legislator, along constructive lines, he hasn't been conspicuous; as an investigator, perhaps the senate never has had his equal.

Its in difficult situations that Walsh shines.

The chairmanship of the Democratic convention at Madison Square Garden, New York, in 1924, was enough to have driven an ordinary presiding officer to distraction.

Walsh not only rose to the occasion, but what little order did characterize that gathering he was entitled to sole credit for.

Calm, suave and collected, he never lost his poise, from the first tap of his gavel to adjournment—the best man for the hardest job in the whole history of national conventions.

Indeed, that performance alone is frequently referred to as about enough to entitle him to a presidential nomination.

Senator Walsh is a little old to carry his party's standard in a national campaign. He'd be 70 within three months after he could be inaugurated.

Still, he carries his years well—an upright, medium-sized, spare figure—wiry, alert and active.

His head's gray, but by no means bowed.

As a worker, nobody in the senate can beat him.

There probably will be criticism of Walsh for lending his candidacy to a movement avowedly designed to split Al Smith's support.

However, none can say there's anything inconsistent about it, on the senator's part.

He voted regularly for McAdoo throughout the 1924 convention.

North Liberty

Rev. Van Cleave of Unionville has accepted the call extended to him by the North Liberty and Center congregations and will enter upon the duties of his new field about the middle of April.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brennemen were in the New Wilmington district on Sabbath visiting their aunt Mrs. Laura Johnson, who has been quite ill.

Frances George visited her sister Mrs. Robert Elder of Fredonia over the week end and attended the closing game of the Class B tournament at Greenville Saturday night.

Mr. Scannell of Homestead is moving his household goods to his residence in this place and expects to bring his family about the middle of the month.

T. A. George was a business visitor at Mercer on Wednesday.

Mrs. Clifford Patterson who was sick last week is able to be out again.

Big Water Locks Completed May 1, Speeding Up Work

(International News Service)

LOCKPORT, Ill., March 9.—The "largest locks in the world," the great iron gates of the Illinois waterway here, will be completed May 1, it is estimated.

Steel plates are being placed upon the south gate and the motors for their operation will be installed soon. Each leaf of the gates requires 350 tons of steel. They are 62 feet in height and provide a lift of 41 feet from the lower to the upper level, the greatest of the series of five locks between Chicago and Utica. The locks here are 600 feet in length and 110 feet in width. The approximate cost will be $2,000,000.

England Arranges Air Traffic Laws

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 9.—In order to lessen the danger of collisions between airplanes several important amendments have recently been added to the Air Navigation orders.

One provides that every plane, when flying by compass along the straight line joining two points on an air traffic route in common use, must keep such a line at least 500 yards on its left.

Aircraft following an air traffic route which has been officially recognized must keep a route 300 yards on its left.

Thus, aircraft will invariably be on the right of landmarks and navigation points and "keep to the right" will be the general rule.

WHITTLING STICK MAY CAUSE DEATH

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., March 9. — Accidentally stabbed by a playmate who was playing with a sharp knife, Wilbur Schrecengost, aged 12, nearly died before the flow of blood could be stopped here today. Three doctors worked for two hours over the lad before he was finally pronounced out of immediate danger.

The accident occurred when the lad threw his arms around the neck of a playmate who was whittling a stick. The knife entered Wilbur's arm in the crook of the elbow, severing the large artery which traverses the arm. Immediate action on the part of witnesses of the accident probably saved the lad's life.

A teacher advertised in a New York paper, saying she must either get a husband or commit suicide. Just has to kill somebody.

New Office Boy Is Some Slugger

(International News Service)

DETROIT, March 9.—Persons who want to get fresh with the sporting department of the Detroit Times might better have a care from now on. The Times has engaged a new office boy. He showed up for work the first day with a pair of eyes in mourning, but he came by them honestly enough. You should have seen the other fellow.

The Times' new office boy is none other than the famed Carlo Mazzolla, candidate for the 118-pound championship. He has a terrible sock, having won more than two-thirds of his fights via the K. O. route. Carlo is 18 years old.

DIES WHILE GETTING HIS TEETH EXTRACTED

KITTANNING, March 9.—Coroner R. W. Dosch was called to Leechburg to conduct an inquiry into the death of C. A. Clinger, of that place, who died while having his teeth extracted.

Clinger was not feeling well and summoned a dentist to his home. After the first tooth was removed, Clinger said he was "feeling all right." The second tooth was extracted, and he collapsed almost immediately, and expired before medical help could be summoned.

"Siamese Twins" At Penn Theatre

DAISY AND VIOLET HILTON

Bound together for life by ties stronger than those of love or friendship, Daisy and Violet Hilton, famous and only living "Siamese Twins", seventeen years old, dainty, pretty and petite are coming to the Penn Theatre all next week, March 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Born in England, the Hilton girls were brought by their uncle and aunt to San Antonio, Texas, in their early infancy,—hence the term under which they are known the world over, "The San Antonio Siamese Twins". Not only do they carry on their work in vaudeville,—dancing, playing musical instruments, singing and other theatrical accomplishments,—with the ease and freedom of movement of normally build young women, but they get the greatest enjoyment out of almost every athletic diversion,—they play tennis and golf, swim,—even box.

In conjunction with the "Siamese Twins" the Penn theatre will show on the screen "Sally In Our Alley", starring Shirley Mason.

Don't miss seeing Greta Garbo, in "The Divine Woman" showing at the Penn Theatre Today and Tomorrow, March 9th and 10th. Based on the career of the immortal Bernhart, this picture is Greta Garbo's Greatest vehicle. Her vibrant, magnetic personality will thrill you as never before.

Don't Keep Half-Emptied Bottles of Cod Liver Oil

New kind of cod liver oil has a rich chocolaty taste that children love.

Mothers now need not force smelly fishy oil on children under doctor's orders.

For this pure cod liver oil, Coco Cod, has all the needed vitamins, in full strength. Yet its taste is so pleasing that children squeeze the bottle for more.

Any drug store can supply Coco Cod.

Firemen Check Serious Blaze In Grove City

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 9.—A fire broke out in the John Turner building on Broad street early this morning and for a time threatened the main business district of the city, but with prompt action was confined to the apartment of Joe Gogol and was soon extinguished with a loss of about $3,000.

The cause of the fire was given as a leaking gas jet in the apartment of Gogol and when discovered the fire department was promptly notified, and before it could spread to adjoining buildings or even to the other half of the apartment the flames were extinguished. The loss is reported to be well covered with insurance.

It was fortunate that the blaze was discovered in time, as the building is right in the center of the Broad street business district and if the flames had once penetrated into other buildings the loss might have been several hundred thousands of dollars before the fire could have been controled.

Boy Scout News

Troop 15

First Christian church troop 15 of the local Boy Scout Council assembled at six o'clock last evening at the church in charge of Scoutmaster Sidney Smith and Assistants George McCracken and A. W. Gray.

The entire troop went by auto to Ellwood City, where they were the guests of the Ellwood City district scoutmasters and Scouts, and the members of troop 15 assisted in a parade, round-up and courts of honor. The large bugle and drum corps of the troop, under the direction of Leader A. W. Gray, led the Ellwood City Scouts in a parade through the main streets of the city. Later, upon request of Scoutmaster Joseph Gettig, the corps played for the audience that had gathered to witness the round-up and the court of honor.

By special request Officers Sidney Smith, George McCracken and A. W. Gray were judges for the round-up and also sat on the court of honor committee. Each member of the troop expressed his pleasure on having gone down and offered their assistance at any later date when they may be called upon to furnish the musical part of any program.

The next meeting of troop 15 in New Castle will be held Monday, March 12. All bird houses are to be in at this meeting. Prizes will be awarded to the winners in the troop contest. This troop is to be congratulated for the splendid display they have had in the Winter Company store window during the past week. The display was carefully worked out and aroused much interest and admiration.

Troop 13

Lions troop 13 held its weekly meeting last night at the Scotland Lane school with a full attendance. Scoutmaster Peter Grittie was in charge of the meeting.

After the usual business meeting Assistan Scoutmaster Jack Grittie was in charge of the pyramid building. Senior Patrol Leader Henry Grittie had charge of the opening and closing ceremonies.

The following new members were voted into the troop: Domenick Monico, Harold B. Fleming and Stanley Crable. The next meeting of the troop has been set for Thursday evening, March 15. All members of the troop are urged to be in attendance at that time.

ACHES AND PAINS OF RHEUMATISM HAVE VANISHED

"Ten Herbs Is Making Different Man Of Me," Former Sufferer Declares.

"I am a different man today, as those awful aches and pains are gone—only occasionally do I feel a slight twinge in my arms or legs," was the statement of Mr. James Ragrut, 2440 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs. "Your medicine made this great change in me," continued Mr. Ragrut, who is 56 years old. "It was terrible the way I suffered with rheumatism before taking Ten Herbs. Intense aches and pains came over my whole body. They were worse in my arms and legs. Sometimes they were so bad that I could hardly get around, and finally I had to give up my job.

MR. JAMES RAGRUT

"Terrible pains of some kind came in my head. All this suffering, together with nervousness, let me get very little sleep. My stomach troubled me. Food formed gas, which caused bloating and awful misery. I was badly constipated, and could not find anything that would relieve me. My liver and kidneys did not work right, as I had dizzy spells, and at times would almost go blind.

"I have taken several bottles of Ten Herbs, and intend to continue its use as long as I get results, for my case was a stubborn one, and I was in a terrible condition. My appetite is better, and now I can eat anything without having distress afterwards. My bowels are regular. What a glorious thing it is to sleep soundly and naturally—that is just the way I sleep since my suffering ended and my nerves became quiet. My liver and kidneys are in better condition, as biliousness and dizzy spells are gone. Ten Herbs is making such a different man of me, that I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man, is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results. Free sample given.

Zionist Meeting On Tuesday Evening

C. A. Cowen, Just Home From Palestine Will Be The Speaker

Charles A. Cowen who has recently returned from a tour of several months in Palestine will speak before the Zionists of New Castle, Tuesday evening, March 13, at 8 o'clock in the Beth Sholem Center.

Zionism aims to create a publicly secured, legally assured home for the Jewish people in Palestine. Mr. Cowan has spent several months studying social and economic conditions in Palestine and has a message that should be of interest to every Jew in New Castle. Dr. Hyman Frank, president of the local organization and N. J. Love, secretary, extend a cordial invitation to the public.

A Benefactor

A public benefactor is one who helps people to be happy. Such a man was Dr. R. V. Pierce.

It is impossible to be happy if you are suffering—in pain or distress—ill. To restore health and strength to ailing people was Dr. Pierce's mission. During his lifetime, he gave to the world a priceless herbal remedy in his Favorite Prescription, for restoring the health of weak, nervous, over-worked women, and thereby increasing happiness in the home.

As a skilled physician, an honored citizen, Dr. Pierce was known far and near for integrity and fair dealing. His phenomenal success was due to the unquestioned purity of his medicines.

Women in every walk of life today say Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has relieved them of nervousness, weakness and kindred ills. It is a reliable medicine made from roots and herbs, sold by druggists, in both fluid and tablets. Send 10c for trial pkg. tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

DEATH CHAIR LOOMS; NEW TRIAL GRANTED

UNIONTOWN, Pa., March 9.—Convicted of first degree murder and in the very shadow of the electric chair, William Jackson of Royal obtained a new lease on life when he was granted a new trial by Judge S. John Morrow. Jackson was convicted of killing Frank McKinney in a quarrel over a clap pipe worth about five cents. McKinney's dying statement says that "he shot me down like a dog."

Both men had been drinking at the time the quarrel started over the pipe. This fact, with other mitigating circumstances, resulted in the granting of a new trial.

CHILD FINDS MOTHER DEAD BESIDE GUN

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 9. — Returning home from school yesterday afternoon, six-year-old Charles Patterson found his mother dead in bed. She had ended her life with a revolver, sending a bullet into her brain.

The act was committed, it is believed, shortly after Mrs. Patterson saw her three children off to school. She had been an invalid for years and was despondent. Her husband, Charles Patterson, is employed by the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad here.

Records Of All 1920 G. O. P. Contributions Said To Be Missing

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The disappearance of all records of contributions to the Republican national committee following the 1920 campaign, when Harry F. Sinclair was distributing bonds of the Continental Trading Company with a lavish hand, today placed an obstacle in the path of the Senate public lands committee's search for the $3,080,000 liberty bond "slush fund".

The Senate committee will continue hunting for recipients of the bonds, first by back-tracking all known Continental bonds redeemed at the Treasury, and second, by an appeal for volunteer testimony. Thus far the committee has traced $160,000 in liberty bonds from Sinclair to the Republicans and identified $95,000 of these bonds as the original property of the Continental Company.

Confirmation of the long rumored reports that Sinclair bonds were given leading Republicans in Chicago in return for cash contributions was obtained from James U. Patten, one-time "wheat king".

Patten told of getting $25,000 in bonds—of which $20,000 have since been identified as Continental bonds—and giving the Republican national committee a $25,000 check. This procedure, according to members of the Senate committee, was followed by the Republicans to cloak Sinclair's tremendous gifts with secrecy.

The Senate committee meanwhile hoped to obtain further information from volunteer witnesses about Republican contributions in the years 1921, 1922 and 1923. Some records, noticeably incomplete, were filed for these years by William V. Hodges, Republican national treasurer, after 1924, but he said they were copied from a card index system. He admitted that all original records were lost, strayed or destroyed.

These were the significant years in the oil cases. In 1921 Sinclair began his negotiations for Teapot Dome and organized the Continental Trading Company in Canada. In 1922 Sinclair got the Teapot Dome lease and gave $233,000 of Continental bonds to former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall in 1923. The Senate began its Teapot Dome investigation and Sinclair made his bond contributions to the Republican national committee, which have totaled $160,000 to date.

The Senate inquiry will be resumed Saturday morning, when additional witnesses will be questioned about the distribution of Sinclair bonds in Chicago.

Ellwood City Council Discusses Pay Raises

Regular Session Of Council Is Held On Thursday Evening

First Recommendations Are Made By New Town Manager

ELLWOOD CITY, March 9.—An ordinance affecting the salaries of three borough employes caused the most discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the Ellwood City borough council Thursday evening in the city building.

Chairman J. S. Bowater of the finance committee recommended the acceptance of a 1928 ordinance which left the salaries of the borough employes the same as last year, with the exception of Ernest Moyer, secretary, who was to receive a salary of $250 over $220. Mr. Friedhoff, the electrician, a raise from $231 to $242.50, and his assistant from $165 to $173.50. This ordinance was presented and held up for further discussion.

Later, when the meeting was about to conclude, Mr. Bowater asked for immediate action on the ordinance, and the salaries took effect from the first of the year. Many of the councilmen made remarks for and against the raising of salaries at this time. Many pleas were made in behalf of Ernest Moyer, however, who had been with the borough for several years, discharging his duties faithfully, and having turned down the offer of a fine position some time ago, having been assured by a number of the old council members that he would be "taken care of". This was all brought to light at last night's meeting, with the result that W. A. Kerr moved and J. S. Bowater seconded the motion that the new ordinance be amended to raise Mr. Moyer's salary, fixing the balance of the borough employes' salaries the same as last year. The final count was seven in favor and the motion was carried.

A report of the board of trustees of the public library was read, revealing the plans of the library for the future, and petitioning the council to appropriate $2,500 for extra equipment which will be necessary when the library moves into new quarters in the Masonic Temple building about May 1, and further requesting that the millage library tax that was reduced to one-half mill two years ago, be raised to one mill again. The statement asserted that no appropriation had been received for the library aside from the rent, and donations have provided much of the equipment, and to have a modern library in the modern new quarters in May, more money will be needed. The estimated cost of further equipment, such as tables, chairs, desks, etc., is estimated at $2,500. This communication was received and placed on file.

The health committee recommended that all bids on the garbage disposal plant be rejected, and the borough secretary be instructed to return the certified checks to the bidding companies. This request was granted by council.

A bill dated February 7 from Alec Main, former borough engineer, was read stating that having used his own car for borough purposes for some months, he wished to be reimbursed to the amount of $14. This matter was turned over to the members of the finance committee.

A bill from the J. W. Randolph post was received noting flags for the bridge, the cost amounting to $77. This was also referred to members of the finance committee.

Petitions.

Taxpayers from the second ward requested that a street light be placed at the corner of Cherry way and Beach way. Referred to electric light committee and borough manager.

Property owners on West Short street request that their street extending between Crescent and Park avenues be paved under the usual payment plan. Referred to the street committee and borough manager.

G. H. Bauder and sons, who are operating a bus line to Wurtemburg, requested a permanent parking space on Sixth street, promising to erect the necessary signs, etc. This was referred to the street committee.

Property owners on Bridge street petitioned for improvement on Orchard avenue to the borough line. Fifteen names were signed to the petition. Referred to the street committee and the borough manager.

Rules and Regulations.

Rules of council as revised and amended by the rules and regulations committee were presented for approval of the council body, and were adopted.

Passed on second and final readings were the ordinances vacating the property in Burnstown for development purposes by the National Tube company. These ordinances were passed by suspension of the rules of council.

Lowell Monroe, the borough manager, made his first official recommendations before council last evening when he asked that the rear lot on Fifth street owned by the borough be enclosed in strong wire fencing for the purpose of storing supplies. He also asked that the operator of the motor street sweeper's salary be paid in one sum of $143 per month, instead of by the hour, as had been the custom heretofore. Both recommendations were granted by the borough council.

Reports.

Police committee reported that they recommended that a touring car be purchased at a cost of $300 for the use of the police department. Granted.

Members of the health committee reported the following contageous cases for February: Scarlet fever 14, measles 3 and mumps 3. Report received and placed on file.

Members of the street committee requested the approval of the borough council in their action in turning in an old car belonging to the borough on a new one for the use of the borough manager. Granted. They also requested that horses, wagon and harness owned by the city be put up for sale. Granted. Also recommended that a high power grader be purchased by the borough at a cost of $2725. Granted.

Professor O. E. Bartel addressed the council, asking permission for an oil company to erect a filling station on his property at the corner of Spring avenue and Fifth street. This was granted. He also asked an appropriation of $600 for the purchasing of instruments and music in the Ellwood City boys' band. The latter was referred to members of the finance committee.

Bridge-Luncheon Given By Mrs. King

ELLWOOD CITY, March 9.—Mrs. H. E. King entertained a number of friends at the second of a series of two bridge luncheons at her home in Ewing Park Tuesday afternoon. Covers were laid for 16 at tables daintily decorated with green carnations and matching place-card tallies.

The afternoon hours were spent in bridge, with four tables in play. High score honors were awarded to Mrs. R. C. O'Neil and Mrs. Steve Peck. Aides at the party were Mrs. Frank Huffman and Mrs. Warren Thorpe.

The guest list comprised Mesdames Steve Peck, R. C. O'Neil, Sharp Jackson, George Moyer, William Weiscoph, W. C. Martin, Herman Wilson, J. N. Darrah, W. H. Thomas, W. C. Levere, Frank Gardner, William Bayers, I. B. McCorkle, Tony Turner, H. Martin Lee and Warren Thorpe.

Mrs. Charles French Gives St. Patrick Bridge-Luncheon

ELLWOOD CITY, March 9. — Mrs. Charles French of Fourth street entertained a group of friends at a pretty St. Patrick Bridge-luncheon Thursday afternoon at her home. Decorations were green carnations centering each table, while the guest places were marked with dainty Irish maidens.

Afternoon entertainment consisted of two tables of bridge. At the conclusion of play, score honors went to Mrs. John Dunn, Jr., and Mrs. W. L. Dean. Mrs. French was assisted in serving by Mrs. Bruce Hunter.

Those enjoying the event were: Mesdames Harold Seidel, E. C. Wright, W. L. Dean, George Pugh, B. M. Lawther, Bruce Hunter, John Dunn, Jr., and Myron Gelbach.

Clever Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, March 9.—Lieut. Governor J. F. Nellinger of the Eighth Division of Kiwanis Clubs of Ohio was the speaker at the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday evening in the Methodist church.

Mr. Nellinger chose as his subject "Playing with New Toys", and his main idea brought out was the fact that people are being weaned away from the home, which is the bulwark of the nation, by new interests, fads and ideals. More of the Golden Rule is needed in the business life, as well as the home, he asserted. He took exception to the book "The President's Daughter", remarking that the late Ex-President Harding was a staunch Kiwanian and had materially benefitted that organization, and after his death it did not seem fitting to bring up such a matter. He asked the local members to rise if they would like their personal affairs aired after their respective deaths. Needless to state, they all remained seated.

Rotarians Hear Of World Travels

ELLWOOD CITY, March 9.—Attorney May of the firm of May & Bradshaw of Beaver Falls was the speaker at the regular weekly dinner-meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday evening in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church.

Mr. May told an interesting tale of his extensive travels through the countries of Europe following the international convention of Rotary Clubs at Ostend, Belgium. His training for the law permitted him to remember many small and interesting details that would escape the average traveler.

Visitors present were the Messrs. Pitzer of New Wilmington and Dave Lewis from Zelienople.

BAIRD CIRCLE.

ELLWOOD CITY, , March 9.—At a recent meeting of the members of the Baird Circle P. H. C. held in their room in the Columbus building plans were formulated for the holding of a St. Patrick dance on the next regular meeting night, March 20.

The degree team has been invited to go to Freedom on March 19 for an installation service.

DENIES REPORT McDONALD TO CONFESS CRIME

(International News Service)

VALLEYFIELD, Que., March 9. — J. A. Legault, K. C. one of the defense counsel at the trial of Doris Julia McDonald and her husband, George, denied today that he would visit George at Bordeaux prison immediately to secure McDonald's "true story" affidavit of the murder of Adelard Bouchard, Lachine taxi driver. It is reported that McDonald has decided to shoulder all the guilt in a final effort to save his wife's life.

"I have not heard from McDonald," Legault said, "but I shall not go to see him until I have presented my plea to the Minister of Justice on March 13 in Ottawa."

Legault said that McDonald probably is ready to give his version of the crime, but declared that he wished to explore chances for securing a new trial for his two clients before proceeding along any other line.

Sheriff Crepin of Beauharnais was to make arrangements in Montreal today for the transportation to Valleyfield of the gallows on which the former Mount Vernon, N. Y., and Oklahoma girl and her husband are scheduled to die on March 23.

Girl And Kitten Picked As Statue For Memorial Site

(International News Service)

BATH, Mich., March 9.—A bronze, life-size statue of a laughing, happy girl with a kitten in her arms will be the memorial to the Bath school explosion which took more than two score lives last May.

This was decided by the Bath memorial commission after residents of Bath had expressed objections to a memorial portraying the tragedy of the explosion. The building was wrecked with dynamite by a maniac.

CHILD FEEDS INFANT STEAK, DEATH RESULTS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 9.—The attempt of an 11-year-old girl to take care of her baby brother during her mother's absence resulted fatally for the baby, Billy Rochelle, 15 months old, who died of food poisoning. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Rochelle of Parkin, Ark.

Mrs. Rochelle went out, leaving her daughter to watch the baby. When it began to cry, the sister gave it beef-steak, peas and buttermilk, the hospital report showed.

How To Achieve Beauty; Making Neck Beautiful

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Any live tissues left to the mercy of time and inactivity become old and unbeautiful. That is why the most famous of scientific beauty authorities will tell you of exercises and chemical stimulants which whip dormant, lethargic skins into renewed vitality and youth.

That is why you must force every muscle of your face, your throat and your body to serve your beauty aims.

Very few people who are not specially trained anatomy students realize the fine network of muscles and cells and veins which lie beneath the skin. Inactivity causes these tissues to lose their elasticity and become flaccid, falling rapidly into the lines and wrinkles of age. To correct the underlying cause, the skin and muscle laziness which steals away youth, is the surest way to develop the full quota and the lasting charm of real beauty!

For the purpose, I recommend to you a few of the exercises which have been especially designed for neck, throat and shoulders by Mordkin, the famous dancer. Following the original purpose of these unique and highly effective exercises, they not only restore the lines of youth, but develop grace and symmetry, integral parts of feminine beauty.

The first exercise is the simplest of all. Stand or sit perfectly erect. Tense the muscles of your neck until you feel the strain at the spine. Then twist your neck slowly first to the far right, then around to the left, feeling every half-inch of progress in the underlying muscles. Repeat this eight times, and do it slowly and thoroughly. It not only wakens unused muscles, but it prevents the ugly droop of the contour, the first sign of age. Another equally simple and effective exercise is to relax the head completely, and then raise it, stretching the neck backward as far as it can go. Then combine the two exercises.

A third exercise is to rotate the head first one way and then the other, trying to describe a complete circle in the process.

All of these exercises will end to maintain the clear, straight line of the throat.

There are some glandular disorders which cause unsightly swellings and goiter which, of course, are disfiguring. In most cases they can be corrected under the care of a competent physician. The persistence of any swelling is a definite sign that you need the attention of a physician. A sign you cannot afford to overlook in either the name of Health or Beauty.

Simple exercise and simple and scientific care will help you to achieve and maintain the slim line of beauty.

An Old Recipe to Darken Hair

By JANICE RANDALL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

STORE IS ROBBED 3 TIMES IN YEAR

OIL CITY, Pa., March 9. — For the third time in less than a year the F. R. Klinestiver store at Nebraska has been entered by robbers. The last burglar was evidently more hungry than covetous of valuable goods, for he carried off several pieces of bacon, a ham and several pairs of rubbers and arctics.

The robber gained entrance to the building by boring 61 one-inch augur holes around the panel of the back doorof the store, the borings being very symmetrical.

ATWATER KENT

RADIO the new A·C· set

$88 without tubes

Model 37 The astonishing price of the new, six-tube, FULL-VISION Dial, self-contained A. C. set includes everything except tubes and a speaker. No power accessories required—no batteries, no charger. For use only with 110-115 volt, 60-cycle, Alternating Current. Uses six A. C. tubes, and one rectifying tube.

Come in and Lift the Lid!

A GLANCE inside this new Atwater Kent A. C. set tells you why it gives you such wonderful reception. The secret's in the design and workmanship—the perfection of even the tiniest parts. You can well believe that every Model 37 has to pass 222 inspections or tests before it leaves the factory—and if it doesn't pass it doesn't leave!

No batteries, of course. Everything but the speaker in a remarkably compact cabinet, and all the power comes from the A. C. house circuit and costs only a fraction of a cent an hour. And the beauty of the little cabinet! It's a new finish. You could buy this set on its name and appearance alone. But you don't have to. Come in and turn the FULL-VISION Dial and then listen to the tone.

Don't delay. Many people have found out about the Atwater Kent 37, and at the low price which Atwater Kent manufacturing facilities make possible, our customers are taking them away as fast as we can get them. Come in and try one today.

Reading Courses Given In Outline At City Library

Learning History Through Fiction Is Aim Of Two Courses Suggested

A new type of reading course is represented in two booklets recently published by the American Library Association and now on file at the New Castle Public Library: The Westward March of American Settlement by Hamlin Garland and the French Revolution as Told in Fiction, by William Stearns Davis. These two courses are designed to interpret a definite historical period for the reader who will follow the rather unusual course of reading which is suggested. For it is proposed that a reader learn history through fiction!

In The Westward March of American Civilization, Hamlin Garland suggests six books of fiction arranged according to the period of history that they represent. Together these books give a chronological picture of the colonization of the west. Their pages interpret the expanding frontier, its life and its hardships. The author recommends two non-fiction books to supplement the others, neither of which is to be regarded as mere history. One is Roosevelt's episodes from the Winning of the West and the other is Frederic Paxon's, The Last Frontier.

Mr. Davis, in his course, outlines briefly the principles, principal characters and events of the French revolution, so as to enable the reader better to enjoy the five novels which he recommends for reading. He then comments briefly on a Tale of Two Cities, The Adventures of Francois, The Reds of the Midi, Ccaramouche, and Ninety-Three. He also recommends Shaller Matthew's French Revolution for those who want a more complete picture of the period.

In addition to these two fiction courses based upon history, there is in the Reading With Purpose series a course about Twentieth Century Association Novels by William Lyon Phelps. It is composed of nine novels considered by Mr. Phelps as the best of the century. All the courses in this series and the books recommended for reading are available at the New Castle Public Library.

Grandma's Shingle London Hair Style

By ETHEL MARSHALL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 9.—A new style in hairdressing, misleadingly called the "grandmother's shingle," has been designed by the fashionable hairdressers here.

"The "grandmother's shingle," despite its name, is neither dowdy nor elderly. It is, on the contrary, designed to give a youthful appearance to the older women. It also enables the smart mannequins to present a soft and becoming coiffure to accord with the various styles of gowns they may be called upon to wear at the spring dress parades.

One deep wave at the back replaces the hard, smartly-defined line on the nape of the neck, and the thick ends are gently combed under, the idea being to convey a suggestion of chignon, though actually the hair is short.

This method of dressing hairdressers declare, particularly when there is a slight flutter of fringe at the forehead, combines a youthful air with a look of dignity.

More attention is being given to the manipulation of the waves at the back now that the severe, close crop is relatively out of favor.

A wace running across the crown of the head towards the left ear, for instance, makes a woman look taller, and this is sometimes a point of importance when displaying certain types of dress.

Christ The Bread Of Life

Brass Tacks On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By ALVIN E. BELL

Both of Jesus' miracles of feeding the multitudes in the wilderness were performed early in the third year of his public ministry. The feeding of the 5,000 took place at about the time of the passover, in the spring of the year, and the feeding of the 4,000 a few months later in the summer. Both are so similar that the lessons of the one are largely the lessons of the other. The feeding of the 5,000 is the only one of Jesus' miracles recorded by all the four evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

The Vacation Rest Disturbed.

The occasion of the miracle of the feeding of the five thousand was the return of the apostles from a preaching tour on which Jesus had sent them, and his desire to have them tell him and their brethren of their varied experiences. It would be good for them to retire from the crowds and "compare notes" on their experiences. Jesus understood their need of a bit of vacation, and said to them, "Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place and rest awhile." But the crowds would not have it so. They surmised the spot for which he had headed his boat across the lake, and outran him around the shore and were awaiting him upon his arrival. "Jesus, when he came out, saw much people, and was moved with compassion toward them because they were as sheep not having a shepherd: and he began to teach them." He began to shepherd them by feeding not only their souls but their bodies.

The Miraculous Meal for the Multitude.

Near the close of the day the disciples become concerned for the welfare of the crowd and suggest that Jesus dismiss them to get their evening meal. "But Jesus said to them, They need not depart; give ye them to eat." What an eternal truth! No man ever need to leave Christ to look out for the legitimate needs of his bodily life. And what a strange command Christ gave his disciples: "Give ye them to eat." They had but five small cakes and two tiny dried fish, the lunch a lad had carried in his pocket. But here, as ever, "God's commands are his enablings." So the multitude is seated in orderly fashion in companies of hundreds and fifties, and Jesus takes their meager store in his hands and by his prayer adds to them the blessing of infinite power and sufficiency, and "broke the loaves and gave them to his disciples to set before them; and the two fishes divided he among them all. And they did all eat, and were filled. And they took up 12 baskets full of the fragments, and of the fish."

We call this a miracle because it was an unusual way of doing what God is doing on a larger scale by the slower processes of nature every year in every wheat field. The one is supernatural, the other natural, but both are superhuman and both equally easy and equally natural to God.

Jesus the World's Bread of Life.

The chief purpose Jesus had in this miracle is indicated in John's account of it where it becomes just the text and illustration for his discourse on his mission as the Bread of Life. What the bread and meat were to the hungering multitudes in the desert that day Jesus Christ is to the world's spiritual needs, sufficiency, satisfaction, sustenance, salvation. "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst. . . . Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you."

(The international uniform lesson for March 11 is Mark 6:31:44 and 8:1-10, the subject being "Jesus Feeds the Multitudes," and the Golden Text, John 6:35, "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst.")

Topic for the Week.
"RELIGION AND THE JOYOUS LIFE."

Friday.
"Discounting the Unpleasant."

SCRIPTURE: Memory Verse: "I know how to be abased and I know also how to abound," (Philemon 3:12.)

Read Philemon 4:8-20.

MEDITATION: Life is a mixture of the agreeable and the unpleasant. Every life is, that is normal. We can not share the common lot of man without experiencing some form of pain. No sensible person expects to be free from it! no wise person desires to be free from it. If we shall think of it as a normal event we shall fortify ourselves to meet it. Instead of resenting its coming as an unatural thing we shall accept it as the natural. Only as we learn to deal with the unpleasant as well as with the plesaant, shall we be able to manage life well.

"Man was made for joy and woe,
"And when this we rightly know,
"Safely through the world we go."

PRAYER: Give us grace, O Lord, to keep our hearts at peace amid the varying tides of life. Joy and sorrow health and suffering, want and plenty are all parts of the common lot of man. May we shrink from no fortune but learn to meet each one as it comes. This we ask for Jesus' sake Amen.

WILL URGE DEATH PENALTY FOR ROBBERY OF MAILS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Aroused by the bandit raid on a Grand Trunk mail train near Chicago recently, Postmaster General New announced today the Post Office Department will advocate legislation authorizing the death penalty or life imprisonment for robbery of the mails.

Representative Kelly (R) of Pennsylvania announced after a conference with New he would introduce a bill providing the punishment sought by the postmaster general. The present maximum punishment is 25 years' imprisonment.

"Attacks upon the mails by armed bandits have become so frequent and methods employed so ruthless, it is my unqualified opinion that more drastic punishment should be provided," said New.

"The death penalty should be imposed upon any man who uses firearms in attempting to rob the mails, or who jeopadrizes the lives of postal employes by using dangerous weapons."

GROVE CITY

Faculty committees in the Grove City High school, have been appointed to supervise the training and selection of local students who will compete in the annual Mercer County Inter-scholastic music-literary roundup, which will be held here in Grove City April 20th. A number of candidates in the various events are already beginning their work in preparation for the elimination contests and selection of the contestants who will represent Grove City.

The committee which have been announced are as follows: Algebra, Miss Coulter, Miss Conrad and Mr. McBride; Current Events, Miss Johnson, Miss Hazlett and Mr. Barnes; Declamation, Miss Barber and Mr. Ormsby; Essay, Miss Campbell, Miss Houston and Miss R. Washabaugh; History, Miss Buchanon, Miss Montgomery, Mr. Hartman and Mr. Barnes; Letter Writing, Miss Houston, and Mr. Hassler; Music, Miss Burgess, Miss Burns and Mr. Sherman; Oration, Miss M. Washabaugh and Miss McMullen; Reading, Miss Forrest, Miss Allen and Miss Lithgow; Spelling, Mr. Hoyt, Mr. McCommon and Mr. Jack.

Forty-nine Grove City High School students and six members of the Sixth grade were placed on the Honor Roll for the month of February, according to the report from the office today. The students on the list are those who maintained an average of ninety per cent or better in all their studies during the month. The Senior class leads the rest in placing seventeen students on the list, the Sophomores are next with fourteen representatives, the Freshmen close behind with twelve and the Juniors trailing with only six on the Roll. These with the six from the Eighth grade make a total of fifty-five students on the Honor Roll of the High school building.

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the Mercer County Boy Scout Council was held Tuesday evening in the Penn Grove Hotel. Arrangements for the meeting were made by the local members of the committee. H. O. Hunter, of Sharon gave the details of the survey of Boy Scout activities in Mercer county, and recommendations for future work were discussed by the committee. Other reports were made on the Scout work of the month by Harold Bell, public accountant of Sharon, Dr. E. J. Fithian, of Grove City, Dam Burn and Don Swart. President Ray, of the committee, appointed various committees for the year and requested their organization at once.

PROHIBITION—AND PATRIOTISM

New Castle, Pa., March 8, 1928.
Editor, New Castle News.
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I read a letter in today's issue of the News, in which the writer seems to fear that Prohibition is destroying the patriotism of our country. I have heard Prohibition blamed for nearly everything that has happened to us in the last ten years, but this is the first I have heard that it destroys patriotism.

It is believed that the original words of the Star Spangled Banner did contain references to drinking, but our forefathers believed that if it was to be used as a patriotic song for a Christian nation it should be changed to the form in which we have it at present.

I would call the esteemed writer's attention to the fact that true Patriotism is not only rendering due respect to our country, but also giving consideration to God's claims upon us as individuals and as a nation. Any other Patriotism is false, and in time brings disaster to the nation; for it is a matter of recorded history that those nations that have left God and His Laws out of their plans, lie buried in the dust of the ages.

If Prohibition makes for truer Patriotism, we should be thankful for Prohibition.

Yours truly,
H. L. COTTON.

Charge Of The Light Brigade

(Published By Request)

Half a league, half a league,
Half a league onward,
All in the valley of death,
Rode the six hundred.
"Charge!" was the captain's cry;
Theirs not to reason why,
Theirs not to make reply,
Theirs but to do and die;
Into the valley of death rode the six hundred,

Cannon to right of them,
Cannon to left of them,
Cannon in front of them
Volleyed and thundered;
Stormed at with shot and shell,
Boldly they rode and well,
Into the mouth of hell,
Into the jaws of death, rode the six hundred.

Cannon to right of them,
Cannon to left of them,
Cannon behind them,
Volleyed and thundered;
Stormed at with shot and shell,
They that had struck so well
Rode through the jaws of death,
Half a league back again,
Up from the mouth of hell,
All that was left of them,
Honor the brave and bold!
Long shall the tale be told,
Yes, when our babes are old,
How they rode onward.
—Alfred Tennyson.

P. S.—Perhaps you have forgotten and would like to know that this poem was written about the siege of Sebastopol, during the war between England and Russia. A mistake in orders caused this useless sacrifice of lives. Only 600 against a very large body of Russians who were defended by heavy batteries.

Third U. P. Sends Delegation To East Brook Meetings

Mens Bible Class Attend Evangelistic Services At The East Brook Church

Nearly 50 members of the Men's Bible class of the Third U. P. church of New Castle attended the evangelistic services at the East Brook U. P. church Thursday evening and gave splendid help in the song service.

An unusually spirited song service preceded the meeting last night when Dr. L. K. Peacock, the evangelist, led the congregation in the singing.

The largest attendance for any week day evening was reported at the special meeting last night when almost all seating space in the church was taken up.

Dr. Peacock last night brought a message concerning false prophets and their effect on the religious and spiritual life of the day. He said that there were two prevalent sins of the present day, irreverence or indifference to the Spirit and an absence of the sense of sin. He said the terrible irreverence of the present day was caused by a lack of conception of the holiness of God. And the absence of the sense of sin is the result of people measuring themselves by a human standard rather than an endeavor to measure up to God.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, March 9.—I was very much interested in the recent polite controversy which raged, in the Sunday magazine sections of the papers and the news columns themselves, about the new tendency toward tuberculous among girl office workers. The ragers, some of them, have tried to pin the fault on the old "insufficient clothing" gag which the diehards eternally drag forth when a woman complains of any ailment whatsoever.

As a matter of fact, girls nowadays are usually adequately and sensibly dressed. It does not really matter if red flannel has been scrapped, since nearly every self-respecting working girl owns a fur coat, real or imitation. A very sensible woman doctor, head of the medical department of some big New York mercantile house, asserts that one of the main reasons the disease is contracted is probably the long subway ride most of the girls have to take to get to work. She says that when she interviews a prospective employe, she ascertains whether or not the journey to business will be a long and arduous one, and if it seems so, she advises the girl to seek work closer to home.

It was not so very long ago that one of our public officials rocked the metropolis with laughter by announcing, as a grave new discovery of his own, the fact that the subway was no place for "frail people". Even the strongest New Yorker had long ago discovered that it was no place for the fit, to say nothing of the fragile. The crowding, the panicky haste to get in and out of the treacherous sliding doors at each station, the bad air, the sometimes alarming halts in the black underground as trainmen scurry around to investigate "a hot box"—all of these circumstances make the subway indeed no place for the frail. But of course if workers live in the Bronx and have jobs in Wall street, they are out of luck. Frail though they may be, their only hope of getting to work is rooted in the subway.

In a wild search for the new, the strange and the piquant, the Art Directors' club throw a stag party at Town Hall, in Forty-third street, at which the main attraction was the appearance of Raymond Dittmars, curator at the Bronx zoo, accompanied by some of his pet snakes and gila monsters. Shades of all the stag parties where burlesque queens were the guests of honor!

The most obliging trainmen in the world, after the Skipper of the Toonerville Trolley, are on the New York, New Haven and Hartford suburban line. A lady who got on at Larchmont, the other day, announced wildly to the conductor, just as the train began to ease out of the station: "I've left my briefcase back at the magazine stand." Obviously she did not expect him to do anything about it. She was just talking aloud in her distress. He said, "I can't promise to wait while you go back and get it, but I can stop the train." And stop the train he did. This may cause the cynical ones to remark that the incident explains the frequent tardiness of the trains, but it illustrates a commendable chivalry.

Half the world doesn't know how the other half lives and neither side gives much of a whoop. But it may be interesting to record that opposite the elegant Riverside Drive apartment buildings, is a colony of squatters on the Jersey shore. Under the slope of the Palisades these people live rent free on old barges, decayed houseboats, rickety pleasure launches, and assorted dwellings made out of packing boxes, perched on piles driven into the water. And their "view" is much finer than that of the rich people opposite them.

ARTHUR McGILL SCHOOL LEADS

Takes First Place In School Savings For Past Month

The Arthur McGill school stepped into first place by having an average saving during the month of February of 54c per pupil, according to report made by Robert M. Strickler, Jr., who has charge of the thrift system for the Lawrence Savings and Trust company.

The Rose avenue school was second with an average saving per pupil of 43c. This was a splendid increase for the Rose avenue school as during the month of January their savings averaged only 16c and they were in 13th place.

The Highland avenue school was third with an average of 39c per pupil; while the West Side school was fourth with an average saving of 32c per pupil. Fifth place was gained by the Thaddeus Stevens school with an average saving of 28c per pupil and the following are the other schools with the average amounts saved in their order:

Oak street school, 27c epr pupil; Lawrence school, 23c per pupil; North street school, 21c per pupil; Terrace avenue school, 19c per pupil; Mahoning school, 16c per pupil; Martin Gantz school, 15c per pupil; Croton avenue school 15c per pupil; Benjamin Franklin Jr. high school 13c per pupil; Aiken school 13c per pupil and Lincoln and Garfield school, 9c per pupil.

Among the county schools the Shenango township school beat every school in the city for the total amount saved which was $267.44. The North Beaver Consolidated school saved $104.10, while the Union township school saved $76.23.

Japanese Fishermen On Canadian Coast Facing Starvation

(International News Service)

TOKYO, March 9.—Restrictive licensing laws enacted by the British Columbia legislature are driving 2,500 Japanese fishermen in Canada to starvation, according to Shinkichi Sakai, a fisherman, who has come back to Japan after living all his life in Canada.

The law in question, Sakai said, provided that each year 250 Japanese fishermen shall be deprived of their licenses until eventually all licenses will be revoked.

"My father went to Canada 30 years ago and I was born there," Sakai declared. "At that time the fishing industry was almost non-existent. Canadians owe the prosperity of their fishing industry to Japanese who started it, but they are trying to drive us out.

"Public opinion in the Dominion sympathizes with the Japanese, but the anti-Japanese feeling among the laboring classes and those engaged in the fishing industry is strong."

Plan New Hotel At Bradford, Pa.

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., March 9.—The St. James, Bradford's oldest hotel, is to be replaced by a modern six-story hotel, it was announced here Thursday by Miss Grace E. Emery upon her return from a journey to Jamaica, Cuba.

The new building will be named "The Emery" in memory of her father, the late Hon. Lewis Emery Jr., Miss Emery declared.

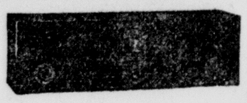

The new hotel, to be constructed of Indiana limestone and Bradford brick, will contain 100 rooms.

Coolidge Signs Bill Giving Lindbergh Right To Take Foreign Medals

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—President Coolidge Thursday signed a bill authorizing Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to accept all decorations tendered him by foreign governments. Lindbergh, a member of the reserve corps of the army, could not legally have accepted any of the decorations awarded him by various foreign governments without specific authority conferred by the bill.

The President also signed the bill authorizing the postmaster general to enter into contracts for transportation of air mail to foreign countries and insular possessions. Contracts may not extend over a longer period than 10 years, and must specify a fixed rate of payment per pound for carrying the mail.

KILLS CHICKEN AND LOSES PART OF HAND

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., March 9.—Using a hatchet to decapitate a chicken, Frank Duffy, 24, of Holidaysburg also chopped his hand so severely that it was necessary Thursday for doctors to amputate his right thumb and part of the right index finger.

It was Duffy's fifth accident within the past year. He's suffered from a revolver wound, a broken arm received when he fell from a tree, and injured leg when he was caught in a mine cave-in, and body injuries received in an auto accident.

Guinea Pigs; Screech Owl And Several Small Turtles At Martin Gantz School

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week the pupils have a nature study exhibit that they arranged for the children and friends of the school to view.

The exhibit contains several living specimens, including a pair of guinea pigs, a screech owl, several small turtles and gold fish. Several mounted specimens are also found in the exhibit, including two large owls, several squirrels, one specimen which seems to be a cross between a squirrel and a weasel, a woodchuck and a pheasant.

Among the exhibits are interesting specimens of various butterflies and moths and beetles. Also the exhibit contains several pictures and plates of various birds, flowers, insects, as well as many books on the subject of nature study from the library and from the school which are useful to the scholars. Birds' nests were found and exhibited by the sixth grade boys, as well as many twigs of different trees. The articles of exhibition have mostly been furnished by pupils of the school. The guinea pigs were furnished by Jean Williams, the turtles from the Gulf of Mexico by Marjorie Pattison, several shells and bird house by Richard Hoffmaster, squirrels by Gerald George, the pheasant by George Miles. Some of the bird houses were furnished by James Sheldone and Joseph DeLillo. The groundhog was brought by Agnes Fair.

"Lindbergh Beach" Officially Named By French Town

(International News Service)

PARIS, Mch. 9.—Saint Lo-d' Ourville, a microscopic community on the Channel is the first town to be put on the map by trans-Atlantic flying. It now boasts a Lindbergh Beach. Imitators beware! Use of the name has been officially sanctioned by young Colonel Charles himself.

By a mere chance Lindbergh landed the Spirit of St. Louis at Saint Lo on the way home last summer simply because Saint Lo happened to be near Cherbourg where the airplane was dismantled and shipped home. At the request of Saint Lo's mayor, Commander Weiss of Le Bourget, the Paris airport asked Lindbergh to lend his name to the town. Now Saint Lo has undeniable proof of its historic importance and hopes some day to blossom out in rivalry to such fashionable seaside resorts as Deauville and La Baule.

Today's Anniversaries

Ten years ago today 40 persons were killed in the collapse of a motion picture theatre at Winchester, Ky.

Fifty years ago today 700 lives were lost in the burning of the Austrian-Lloyd steamer "Sphinx".

Today is the anniversary of the battle of the Monitor and the Merrimac, a day annually observed by Swedish-American organizations in memory of John Ericsson.

The annual indoor track and field championships of the Western Conference will begin today at Iowa City while the championships of the Missouri Valley Conference will begin at Des Moines.

In New York City today Prof. Hugh S. Taylor, head of the department of chemistry at Princeton university, will be formally presented by the American Chemical society with the Nichols medal for 1928 in recognition of his research work in catalysis.

The policies which will guide more than 1,000,000 boys and girls in about 6,000 organized camps throughout the United States next summer will be determined by the Camp Directors' association at its annual meeting which begins today in Atlantic City.

VOLANT

CHURCH SERVICES

The Methodist Sunday school services will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. W. J. Wilkins, superintendent. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Rev. L. W. Miller, pastor. The Presbyterian Sunday school services will be held at 1:30 p. m. C. H. Lusk, superintendent. Afternoon sermon at 2:30. Rev. C. M. Rohrbaugh, pastor.

VOLANT HIGH SCHOOL ENJOYS PARTY

The high school students here enjoyed a party at the home of Elmer Cornman, a senior, on Wednesday evening. The table was beautifully decorated in the class colors. A large basket tied in the colors and which contained doughnuts, formed the centerpiece. After the pupils had enjoyed many games a delicious lunch was served.

The following were present: Misses Edna Litzenberg, Mary Allen, Etta Michaels, Leona Rudolph, Viola Sholler, Gladys Sonntag, Lois Welker, Agnes Drake, Edna Yeager, Mildred and Edith Cornman; Messrs. Earl Sonntag, Wesley Miller, Carter Johnston, Harold Shaw, William Aggas, Elmer Perdue, Gaylord Black, Francis Grim, Ralph Coates, Kenneth Rudolph, Charles and Elmer Cornman.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Volant Community Club held their monthly meeting in the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening, March 7, at eight o'clock. A delicious supper was served by the eats committee. Entertainment was furnished by the same committee, which won rounds of applause from their audience.

Walter Braham, an attorney from New Castle, was the principal speaker of the evening. Walter was formerly a Volant boy and his brilliant address was enjoyed by all.

Rev. C. M. Rohrbaugh gave a short address, as did Rev. L. W. Miller. Committees were appointed for the next meeting, which will be held Wednesday evening, April 4. This is a community affair and all men are extended an invitation.

The first meeting of this club was held last month in the Methodist church with 44 men present. The meeting Wednesday consisted of 55 men of the community present.

VOLANT NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Book of New Castle were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Allen one day this week.

The Volant basketball team defeated the Wampum team at New Wilmington Wednesday evening, March 1. The home team played one of their best games of the season. The score: Volant high school 13, Wampum team 6.

The school children here are busy collecting old magazines and newspapers so that they might sell them and use the proceeds for a piano fund.

Rev. L. W. Miller spent a couple of days at school this week, helping the boys to build a radio.

Last Friday an airplane passed over here, flying very low. At some places it seemed to almost touch the housetops. Many of the residents followed the plane, thinking it intended to land, but it at last passed out of sight. Later we learned that it proved to be the "Nungesser-Coli", carrying the famous fliers from France, Costes and Lebrix, and who later landed near Sharon. The recent snowstorm had changed their course.

Hiram J. Collins spent last Saturday at Pittsburgh, and on his way home visited over Sunday with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. James Watkins, of Mars, Pa.

Many of the Masons here are planning to attend the meeting at the Cathedral in New Castle Friday evening.

Word has been received here of the death of Baxter Anderson, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. E. Johnston, of New Castle. Mr. Anderson was a former resident of Volant and his many friends regret to hear of his death.

Mrs. W. J. Allen attended the funeral of James Book Wednesday afternoon, which was held at his late residence in New Wilmington.

The high school basketball team will play with the Shenango team at Shenango high school Friday evening, March 9. Many are planning to attend the game.

Recognition Is Given North Street Pupils At Annual Banquet

North Street Junior High School will shortly pass out of existence, but the occasion of the Fifth Annual Recognition banquet held by the school at the Third U. P. church on Thursday night will live long in the memory of those present.

The banquet was one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever attempted by the North Street school and reflects credit on the committee that arranged the event. Over 100 persons, including the young athletes of North Street Junior High, boys and girls, honor students, members of the school faculty, members of the School Board and several invited guests participated in the banquet.

Promptly at 6 o'clock the banquet got under way with the serving of a most delicious supper consisting of hot biscuits, chicken, mashed potatoes, peas and carrots, Perfection salad, rolls butter, jelly, orange ice, chocolate cake, coffee, mints and peanuts. The food was cooked to a turn and extremely tasty.

Miss Patterson Toastmistress

Miss Lois Patterson assumed the role as toastmistress after the last few crumbs had been cleared away, and the speech making part of the evening continued for the better part of two hours. Miss Isabel Zehner led the assemblage in songs prior to the first speaker on the program.

Charles H. Young, president of the School Board and a member of the State Public Service Commission, was the first speaker of the evening and he told the boys and girls of the erection of the new George Washington Junior High building, that will soon supplant the North street high. Mr. Young spoke of the facilities of the new school and its many advantages to the North Street students benefit.

Tells of Lindbergh

Dr. C. C. Green, City Superintendent of Schools, was the next speaker and having only recently returned from Boston, where he attended the National Educational Association convention, he was eager to tell the students of the reception tendered Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his mother Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh. Dr. Green used three principal points in his talk, ability, courage and modesty, and it was not hard to guess the name of the man today most fitted in all three of the combinations. He urged the students to adopt the three points of his speech as their guidance through life.

Bart Richards of the New Castle News, followed Dr. Green and gave a typical Richards talk, in which he brought out many figures and calculations on what it takes to run a school system the size of the New Castle district. Richards interspersed his talk with bits of wit and humor that carried heavily with the audience.

Miss Edna Jackson, captain of the girls basketball team gave a fine talk on the work accomplished by the girls team this year and although the maidens did not win many games, they did their level best for the sake of the school.

Socrates Manos, captain of the boys basketball team was the next speaker and he gave a fine talk on the North Street basketball team and although they did not win the championship, they gave Franklin High a hard battle for the honors. Manos paid Coach J. C. Ward a fine tribute.

Chas. P. Walther of the News was next on the program and a few facts were unfolded on the matter of writing what happens over at North Street School.

Robert Hoose, captain of the boys football team was the next speaker and he said that to his knowledge the North Street team had enjoyed a fairly successful season. He paid a high tribute to the coaches.

Louis Mauney, a young violin player rendered a difficult number in a most pleasing manner, he was accompanied by Miss Ruth Kahl.

Coach J. C. Ward, a new comer to North Street school gave an excellent talk on the athletics of the institution and said that he had never worked with a finer group of boys. "We did not win any titles this year," said Ward, but look out for us next year at the new school.

B. K. Thacker, principal of the North Street School was the final speaker on the program and after paying the young athletes and honor students a glowing tribute on their success presented 59 students with the North Street insignia as a mark of appreciation for their work. Thacker said that in the new building with increased facilities and better equipment that George Washington Junior high athletic teams would be in the running for the city championship. Mr. Thacker unfolded plenty of wit and humor that made his talk one of the crowning features on the splendid program.

Mrs. B. K. Thacker sang a solo, "An Open Secret," in a rich soprano voice. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Lillian Sarver. The invocation of the evening was offered by Loren Kannenberg.

The program was brought to a close by pep songs led by Miss Isabel Zehner. The North Street Junior high orchestra helped make the evening a fine success with renditions throughout the banquet.

Altoona Girl Is Held In Detroit On Serious Charge

(International News Service)

DETROIT, March 9.—Her mother's story that she has been traveling around the country with a beauty contest promoter today accounted for the arrest by federal authorities of Miss Thelma Williams, 22, of Altoona, Pa., at her apartment here.

According to the mother, en route from Altoona, her daughter ran away with the promoter when he promised to get her a job on the stage. The mother said the man arranged beauty contests in various cities and always declared Miss Williams the winner.

The girl, a former school teacher, is held as a Mann act witness, according to police.

Electrical Men Gather Saturday

Engineers To Inspect Properties Of Penna-Ohio Light Company

Arrangements have been completed for the entertainment of the members and guests of the Sharon section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, who hold their meeting tomorrow in Youngstown.

The meeting was brought to Youngstown to permit the engineers to inspect the sub-stations and newly installed supervisory control system of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power & Light company. The visitors, coming from all parts of the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, will be the guests of the power company in the afternoon. Special motor coaches will take them to the Boardman sub-station, south of the city, and thence to the Poland avenue sub-station, one of the sub-stations whose switches may be controlled at will by the load despatchers in the main office by the mere touch of a button.

Following the inspection tour the engineers will hold a dinner meeting in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium. The principal speakers at the dinner will be C. S. MacCalla, vice president and general manager, and H. N. Wood, manager of light and power, of the Penn-Ohio system. Mr. MacCalla will speak on "The Place of the Utility in the Economic Structure," and Mr. Wood will give an illustrated talk on "The Romance of Power."

Arrangements for the inspection trip have been made by a committee headed by F. W. Funk, chief engineer of the P-O. It is expected that approximately 200 will attend the meeting. The Sharon contingent will come to Youngstown in special coaches, leaving the Westinghouse plant at 2 o'clock. The others will assemble at the power company's office, Boardman and Champion streets, at 3 o'clock.

To Give Message On Conversion

Rev. Walker To Speak On Timely Subject This Evening In Central Christian

Another fine service in the special series at the Central Christian church was held last night. The special music was a duet sang by A. W. Bauman and daughter, Mrs. William Wilcox.

Evangelist Walker, whose work has been growing in every particular and has been winning the hearts of the people with the great gospel messages that he has been bringing every night, read his evening lesson from the 16th chapter of Matthew of the compliment that Jesus gave Peter when he had made that great statement concerning the sonship of Christ and gave to Peter the authority for opening the Christian dispensation, which he did on the Day of Pentecost, following the resurrection of Jesus from the dead.

Mr. Walker said that the creed of the kingdom contained one article of faith which is a sufficient creed for all the world, and it was this creed that the apostles and the early evangelists used in laying the foundation of the kingdom and urged people to build upon it. Peter's confession was the highest form of speech because of what was involved, such as the sonship of Christ, the Father, expressed your belief and salvation eternally.

The service tonight will begin 15 minutes earlier. The subject is "Conversion: Its Changes".

RECOVERY FROM GRIP IS ALWAYS SLOW WORK

Victims of grip or influenza are always left badly weakened. The acute catarrhal conditions from which they have suffered make recovery take a long time. There is only one common sense course to follow—get rid of the catarrh.

Dangers of Catarrh

Catarrh helped bring on the attack. It is present in most people. Many know it only when some acute attack shows how much it has undermined the general health. Catarrh is both insidious and dangerous.

World's Tonic conquers catarrh. More than that, it is a wonderful strength builder. With it, thousands have gotten rid of catarrh at the same time they were building up strength.

Those who are weakened by grip or influenza or cold are always subject to the ravages of catarrh. Build up strength with World's Tonic and overcome catarrh at the same time.

Army Of Brick Layers Making Good Progress On New Jameson Hospital

With brick work completed up to the window ledges on the third story of the building, more than 60 bricklayers of the Boldt Construction Company of Cleveland, shielded from the weather by giant tarpaulins, rush the work on the new Jameson Memorial hospital, located on West Leasure avenue.

A special red tapestry face brick is being used by the masons, backed up by two rows of tile. The mortar which is being used is colored so as to match the Indiana limestone, being used for the first story of the building. With the exception of a small portion of the facade, into which the cornerstone will be placed, stone work has been completed.

In the interior of the building another gang of men is engaged in clearing up rubbish so that work may be started on interior partitions. Huge piles of tiles, which are to be used in the partitions are being placed about on the floors.

A few casement windows have been placed in their frames, more as an experiment than anything else, and glass for them is stored in one of the company's warerooms on the building site.

Above the third story of the building all of the concrete work has been done, and it remains but for the sidings to be built before intensive work on the interior of the building can be started.

With the foundation poured on the nurses' home, facing Wilmington avenue, work will start on that part of the project in the near future, representatives of the Boldt Company declare.

Average American Fair Minded, Says Rodd, Home From U.S.

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 9.—"The average American is an extremely fair-minded man," Sir Rennell Rodd, British delegate to the League of Nations in 1921 and 1923, declared in a recent address before the English Speaking Union here.

Sir Rennell, who also was one of the British representatives at the recent naval disarmament conference in Geneva, recently returned from a visit to America.

"The American is apt to think out questions for himself," Sir Rennell continued. "His mentality is simple and direct, but he is often very ill-informed on questions which interest Great Britain profoundly.

"I have found in talking about the recent naval conference that our position and attitude were pretty generally misapprehended. Men did not seem to understand that the aims of naval power might be quite different for a country differently conditioned geographically and economically from their own.

"But one has only to explain our position for them very readily to understand it. There is one point, however, on which we ought to not delude ourselves.

"The American people feel themselves justly entitled to arrive at their own conclusions and their own judgments, quite independently of old usages and conventions and customs to which they never pledged themselves."

Barley Increases In Keystone State

Barley Can Take Place Of Corn, Declares County Agent McCulloch

Acres of barley in Pennsylvania are increasing steadily especially in the northern part of the state where corn for grain is somewhat uncertain, declares H. R. McCulloch county agent.

"In the grain feeding ration barley takes the place of corn," states Mr. McCulloch. "Yields varying from 40 to 60 bushels to the acre were obtained last year."

Barley should not be sown on poor land or on soil that is very acid. Wherever clover is grown the soil is sweet enough for barley. On poor, sour lands oats give better results than barley.

"Prepare the seed bed exactly the same as for oats" McCulloch urges. "Then place the barley in the drill instead of oats. The seeding rate is two bushels to the acre."

While beardless barley is desired from the standpoint of comfort and convenience it is a very low yielder. It averages 10 to 20 bushels to the acre lower than the bearded varieties.

Barley is one of the best nurse crops for alfalfa, clover and grass seeding. It does not shade the ground as much as oats and can be harvested earlier.

Persia's Capital Asks Installation Of Water Hydrants

(International News Service)

TEHERAN, Mar. 9.—A large capital without an efficient fire brigade is Teheran, Persia's metropolis, where there is now an outcry against the city fathers on account of this neglect.

Fires in the East, where because of the shortage of timber all buildings are of stone, are not as rare as some people think. The Russian bank in Teheran was greatly damaged recently by fire, all efforts of those hastily recruited to fight the flames having proved unavailing.

The establishment of a fire brigade would be useless without water mains at convenient points. As this does not seem to be very likely Teheran like a great many other cities in this part of the world will continue to be exposed to the dangers of destruction by fire.

Perhaps the only town with a proper fire brigade is Tel Aviv the all Jewish township of Palestine with a population of 45,000. There, too, the firemen although sporting soldierly uniforms with bright red tabs on the caps, are dependent mainly on voluntary contributions for the maintenance of the force.

Suzanne Takes Up Stamp Collecting

NICE, March 9.—Suzanne Lenglen has gone in for a new hobby, that of stamp collecting, it has been learned here.

Since the famous tennis star turned professional she has devoted her leisure hours to the accumulation of rare stamps, and now has a collection valued at $25,000.

She has restricted her collection to stamps of France, Monaco and the United States.

Thousands call this test "The most important step of my life!"

NONE of them realized, when they made this simple change in diet, what far-reaching influence for good it would have. You, too, may be skeptical until you make the test.

But do as these others did—and see! Eliminate caffein from your diet for thirty days—drink Postum with your meals instead. Then judge!

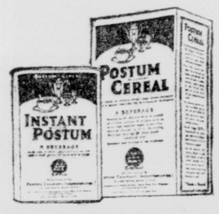

Amazing results!

These others found that, with Postum as their mealtime drink, sleeplessness vanished. They slept soundly, naturally. Nervousness, too, disappeared, and with it, headaches and indigestion. They became more alert at work, happier at play. Where they had been, unconsciously, half-sick before, they were now gloriously well!

Nor did they miss anything in mealtime enjoyment! They found that Postum has a distinctive flavor all its own—a rich, full-bodied flavor that millions prefer to that of any other drink.

Order Postum today—start the 30-day test! See what a difference it makes in the way you feel—in the way you look! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are made of roasted whole wheat and bran—no trace of any artificial stimulant in them. Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks.

Cleveland In Line For Ocean Airport

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., March 9.— Cleveland to London in 48 hours via trans-Atlantic dirigible passenger service has become a possibility and no wild dream, with an effort being made to locate a landing site here for the British firm which is contemplating a regular dirigible air service across the Atlantic in the near future and the building here of the two dirigible super-dreadnaughts by an Akron, O., corporation.

Maj. John Berry, superintendent of the Brook Park airport here and a recognized aeronautical expert declared Cleveland has a big future as a trans-Atlantic and continental dirigible port because:

First—By the "great circle route" Cleveland is within five miles as close to Liverpool, London, Berlin or Paris, as New York City and nearer than Baltimore.

Second: Cleveland is free from coastal storms or fogs which hamper seaboard landings.

WHAT IT IS

The Festival Choral Society is virtually the former "Handel Oratorio Society," under a new name, destined to become one of the most powerful choral organizations in America. It is a great chorus of over 400 members, a combination of the music clubs, church choirs, professional and non professional singers of New Castle, Ellwood City, New Wilmington, Edenburg, West Pittsburgh, Wampum and other smaller communities.

ITS PURPOSE

Is to give concerts and hold Festivals of Music of national importance and as New Castle's most valuable civic asset, bring renown to this section of the state. Also, to make these concerts available to all the people of the community by keeping prices of tickets so low that they shall be negligible.

This is made possible because of the large seating capacity of the Scottish Rite Cathedral auditorium, the exemption from tax on admissions, and the service rendered the society by the musical conductor, accompanist and officers without remuneration of any kind.

CHARACTER OF CONCERTS

Choral music, selected from the world's best literature, music of such beauty and understandable quality that every one will find joy and uplift in each number.

At each concert given by the society, a world celebrity will be presented. This feature will not only add variety to the program but will act as a powerful stimulus to the young musicians of the community.

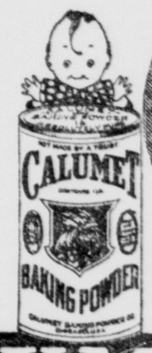

WHAT IS YOUR BAKING PROBLEM

Scouts Have Honor Court

Over 300 Boys Attend Ceremony Held At Ellwood City

DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS PLANNED FOR ELLWOOD

ELLWOOD CITY, March 9.—Over three hundred boys from New Castle and Ellwood City were present at a combined investure ceremony, court of honor and round-up which took place Thursday evening in the Lincoln gymnasium. Led by the Boy Scout bugle corps from New Castle troop 15, the boys first paraded through the main streets of the town to build up interest in the bugle and drum corps that is now being organized by the Scouts of Ellwood City.

At the Lincoln gymnasium the parade ended. Boys who were qualified in the various phases of scouting were given merit badges and among these was a life Scout pin, given to Scoutmaster William Gray Evans, who, although he has been in Scout work but a short time, has made remarkable progress. The life Scout is the highest rank obtainable.

Gettig Honored

Scoutmaster Joe Gettig from Shelby troop 7, was awarded an Eagle badge. Mr. Gettig has been in charge of Shelby for the past six years and is well known for his ability as a Scout. This troop will be remembered as winning the 1926 Scout camporee championship.

The next feature of the meeting was the investure of Franklin township troop 1. These Scouts were awarded badges. Although organized but last summer at Camp Phillips, several of the boys are experienced Scouts and rapid progress for the troop is anticipated.

Shelby won the impromptu roundup which was held between the troops, scoring 85 points; Ewing Park troop took second with 65 points; Kiwanis troop, third, 60 points; American Legion troop 10, fourth, 34 points. James Wilson and Davis Nye scored the only points made by troop 10 by their perfect signalling.

Throughout the evening several selections were played by the drum and bugle corps. The closing ceremony was in charge of Assistant Scout Executive C. R. Knally.

Following are the boys who were awarded badges for their work in scouting:

Atterbury Willing To Offer Testimony At Senate Inquiry

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—While not willing to discuss in detail charges made by the United Mine Workers before the senate coal committee that the railroads have conspired to cripple the miners' union, Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, said today that he would gladly testify before the committee if called.

Atterbury was here to attend the annual traffic club dinner.

Council Will Make Traffic Inspection

Locations For New Traffic Lights Are To Be Looked Over

Council today decided to inspect traffic conditions before Police Chief Horner's request for additional lights and blinkers are put into service.

Horner advocated today that lights be placed at Madison and North Liberty streets; Cherry and North Liberty streets, North Jefferson and North streets and East and North streets.

He also requested that "blinkers" be installed in the Highland school zone at Highland and Park avenues and also at Laurel boulevard and Highland avenues.

Council believes the "blinkers" should be placed as there is considerable speeding through the school zone in Highland avenue, but relative to lights do not want to have too many installed without knowing they absolutely are necessary.

A warning sign also was advocated for placement near the top of the East street hill and a new rule of 10 miles an hour in school zones but Solicitor White says state law prescribes 15 as the minimum.

Half Hundred Workmen Rushing Construction Of George Washington High

Taking advantage of the break in the cold weather more than 50 men of the J. Clyde Gilfillan Company are bending every effort toward the completion of the new George Washington Junior High school, located on East Euclid avenue.

Although most of the work has been done this winter, yet the result is surprising. Most of the brickwork, except for part of the facade of the central portion of the building, is completed. In the central portion of the building, where the auditorium will be, cement and tile floors are being laid, while steel workers complete girder construction above so that the roof may be poured in the near future.

All of the piping for plumbing, and most of the electrical conduit work have also been completed. In both the east and west wings interior partitions of tile have been run up, and lathers are now putting steel lathing on the ceilings.

Two elevators rush materials up to the men who are working on the upper stories of the building.

It is the east wing, however, which is farthest along toward completion. Here all of the brick work is completed, interior partitions are in, lath has been applied to the ceiling and the floors are almost ready for another coat of concrete.

Along with the bricklayers and the cement workers, heater men are installing the hot air furnace and piping to all parts of the building.

The facade of the west wing of the building has been completed, and when the face of the central portion of the building is done, brick work will have been finished.

COLLEGES SPLIT IN DUAL DEBATE

Westminster And Allegheny Break Even In Contests On Foreign Investments

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 9.—Westminster and Allegheny broke even in a dual debate held last Wednesday night at the two respective colleges, the negative teams of both colleges won on its opponent's platform.

Before the home crowd, the Westminster affirmative team consisting of Dave Wallace, of Rockville Center, N. Y., Clyde Myers of New Castle, Howard Hamer of Erie, and Alfred Milford of New Wilmington, alternate, lost in a 2 to 1 decision to the Allegheny negative team which consisted of: A. Billings, P. Gill and R. L. Jones.

At Allegheny the successful Westminster negative team consisted of: Wilson Botsford of Pittsburgh, Samuel Colman of Philadelphia, Halden Williams of Carnegie, and James Chambers of New Castle, alternate.

The subject discussed was Resolved: "That the United States should not protect the investments of its nationals in foreign countries."

Begging Preacher Placed In Jail

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 9.—Charged with posing as a "martyr" to extort money from a benevolent public, the Rev. Gilbert Watling, vicar of St. John's church, Edmonton, has been sent to prison for non-payment of taxes.

In sentencing the clergyman, the judge said that the man had been before the court repeatedly. He posed as a martyr, the judge said, and broadcast an appeal, whereupon anonymous donors immediately contributed enough money to pay his back taxes.

"This man simply has been robbing the public," the judge declared. He is using the court for the purpose of cadging from the generous benevolent public, and more especially from the Church of England."

One of the delegates to the Missouri Democratic convention weighs more than 400 pounds. He probably lends weight to the gathering.

Excess Fat Is Folly

Reduce as your friends did

Look about you—note how slenderness prevails. Excess fat is the exception now. You must realize that some great factor has helped to bring this change. That factor is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. It is a substance which, in the body, turns food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. Marmola supplies it to those who have too little.

Medical science discovered this factor over two decades ago. For over 20 years people have used it in Marmola and told others the results. Millions of boxes have been employed in fighting excess fat. Now almost everybody has slender friends who can tell what Marmola did.

No abnormal exercise or diet is required, though moderation aids results. Simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Then cease, unless you start to gain again.

Try Marmola, in justice to yourself. Watch its results in new beauty, new health and vitality. You cannot afford to stay fat when natural reduction has become so easy. The complete formula is stated in every box, also the reasons for results, to banish any fear of harm. Order now, before you forget it, and you will always be glad that you read this.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Nobel Prize Book Reaches Library

Woman Novelist Of Italy Is Accorded Notable Honor For Year

For the second time in its 25 years of history, the Nobel prize for literature has been awarded to a woman. It is an Italian woman who has won the coveted honor this year, Grazia Deledda, a native of Sardinia, whose greatest book, in the opinion of many critics, is "The Mother", received today at the New Castle Public Library.

Madame Deledda is admittedly one of the foremost women novelists of Italy. She is a Sardinian by birth and parentage and in the little inland town of Nuoro she spent her childhood among shepherds, peasants and small landholders such as she has portrayed in her various stories of Sardinian life. After her marriage to a Lombard she left Sardinia and went to Rome, where she has been writing for the last 30 years.

The scene of her novel, The Mother, (upon which the Nobel prize is usually based) is laid in the remote and primitive village of Aar, and the action takes place within the short space of two days.

Weather Winds Clock Will Run Forever, Claim

(International News Service)

NEUCHATEL, Switzerland, March 9.—An ingenious Swiss has just invented a clock which will run forever. It gets its energy from the variations in temperature, and all one has to do is to put it on the chimney piece and it will run perpetually. This clock has been placed on the market and is finding ready sale.

French Senate Vetoes Woman Drafting Bill

PARIS, March 9.—French women will not have to fight in the next war. The Senate has just voted no to the army reorganization bill which was approved by the Chamber of Deputies, providing for the requisition in time of war of women.

One senator emphasized the fact that if France commandeered the services of women any army invading France could do likewise. The Minister of War did not insist. The item was struck from the bill.

But if they can't shoulder a gun, other opportunities are now to be seen in other fields. Posts in the foreign office are to be open to them in limited numbers and this is expected to lead to many diplomatic appointments.

Quick Relief for Stiff Joints and Sore Muscles

Don't limp around in agony any longer, when a Johnson's Red Cross Kidney Plaster will give you almost instant relief. Don't be discouraged because other remedies have brought you only temporary relief. Try a Johnson's Red Cross Kidney Plaster which gives lasting benefits—warmth, support and gentle, continuous massage to the sore, contracted muscles and stiff joints.

The beneficial effect is lasting because the medication is held in full strength directly against the skin over the sore, lame parts and is continually absorbed as long as the plaster remains on the body. If your muscles and joints are stiff and sore from overwork or unaccustomed work, from exposure, Rheumatism or any other cause, get a Red Cross Kidney Plaster at the drug store and put it on—you will marvel at its quick and wonderful effectiveness. Sold by all drug stores.

Polishing Skulls Is Strange Job

LONDON, March 9.—One of the strangest jobs in England is that of Mrs. Elizabeth Pratt of the Royal College of Surgeons, Lincoln's Inn Fields, whose daily task it is to keep clean and glistening the 10,000 skulls and skeletons on display in the institution.

Mrs. Pratt thoroughly enjoys her job. She goes from one case to another dusting with a little hair brush the crevices in the cranium or the teeth of the various skeletons, and finally polishing the skull with a duster.

Miss Rose Millauro, 27, shares with Mrs. Pratt the distinction of having an extraordinary job. She is a maker of glass eyes, and one of her greatest triumphs is an optic that moves like a real one.

"Some fastidious people have three glass eyes," she said in describing her work. One has a small pupil for outdoor wear by day; one for ordinary wear, slightly larger, and still a larger one for evening wear, when the human pupil distends most.

Strange thing—election time drawing nearer and nearer, and we haven't heard a single candidate denouncing the corn borer.

Police Officer Shot And Killed

(International News Service)

HOBOKEN, N. J., March 9.—Patrolman Patrick Lane was shot and killed here early today when he attempted to arrest two motorists for speeding, according to police investigating the murder.

Robert Wilkins, 24, a New York printer who was arrested on a charge of murder when captured near the scene, told police that his companion, Willie Firth, also of New York, shot Lane three times when the patrolman attempted to make the arrest. Firth escaped.

Investigation revealed that the license plates on the automobile were issued to Abraham Lowenthal, of Brooklyn. He was to be questioned.

Patrolman Lane, shot three times in the abdomen, died shortly after he was taken to a hospital.

Seek To Force State To Accept Delegate's Petition

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG March 9.—Counsel for Ralph Beaver Strassburger, millionaire Norristown publisher today were to go before the Dauphin county court to ask the court's approval of a mandamus compelling the commonwealth to admit the publisher's nomination petitions for Republican delegate at large to be filed.

Both Strassburger's contentions—that a radio facsimile of his signature and his power of attorney given to one of his counsel are legal substitutes for Strasburger's signature on the petitions—and the commonwealth's claim that the publisher did not comply with the legal requirements of filing, have been laid before the court and a decision is expected today.

Monday is the last day for withdrawing petitions and in event of a decision favorable to Strassburger, W. D. B. Ainey who filed for the seventh place on the administration's delegate slate is expected to withdraw in the publisher's favor.

Supreme Auditor At P. H. C. Meeting

Watchman Is Elected At Meeting Held On Thursday Evening

An unusually interesting session was held on Thursday evening by New Castle Circle No. 5, P. H. C..

Among the important items of business was the election of a watchman to fill the unexpired term of Etta Welch.

The election resulted in favor of Rebecca Strong who was later installed by Supreme Auditor Dr. R. G. Baird of Sharon.

The beautiful embroidered buffet set contributed by Mrs. Harriet Smith of Mahoningtown was won by Deputy Marie Purdy of Freedom Circle.

Dr. Baird was at his best with humorous stories .The members were given slips of paper on which they were to write the name of a magazine. The story he told was published among about a dozen magazines—the circle got busy and first prize was won by Guide Edna Craine while the second one fell to the lot of the secretary.

At the next regular session of the circle all members are asked to join in the indoor picnic. Bring a tureen hot or cold and table requirements for yourself. The committee will be glad to see you and serve coffee, cream, sugar and ice cream free. Supper will be served at 6:30 and following the business session a general get together time is promised.

On Wednesday night of next week another card party will be held by the Booster club and all who have attended these parties know what it means to be there.

The session on Thursday night closed with cards and a social hour.

The newly appointed program committee follows: Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dandy, A. L. Conn, David Tucker, Catherine Badger, Emma M. Jones, Edna Craine, Miss Robinson.

LILLIE B. JONES, Secretary.

Secure Insurance For New School

Several items of routine business were taken u Thursday evening, March 8 when the New Castle school board met in special session. Insurance in the amount of $25,000 was authorized for the George Washington Junior High school.

The Girl Scouts were granted permision of the the Franklin Junior high school pool once a month with the stipulation that Edward H. Gaesa instructor of swimming in that school must be present and be paid for his services.

The bid of the Shenango Motor company for a truck for the school system was accepted their bid being $636.76.

New Men's Store Opens Saturday

Van Fleet And Eakin Clothing Store Ready For Public

WELL-KNOWN MEN IN NEW ENTERPRISE

It was announced today that a new men's clothing store would be opened formally Saturday by Charles H. Van Fleet and F. W. "Ky" Eakin, at 113 East Washington street where only the latest and best men's furnishings will be sold.

For 30 years Mr. Van Fleet has been connected with the firm of Cooper & Butler and for 20 of the years he has been a member of the firm. "Ky" Eakin experienced clothing man will be Mr. Van Fleet's associate. Elmer Calnan will be a salesman.

Mr. Van Fleet's long experience and dealing with the public and Eakin's success is well known and they have the confidence of the public. They have made arrangements to carry only the best and latest men's furnishings.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothing, Stetson hats, Excello and Elite shirts and Interwoven hosiery will be displayed for sale and the gentlemen who head the new firm realize that in securing these lines they have brought something that New Castle men like.

"I have been in the business for 30 years and for 20 was a member of the Cooper & Butler firm," said Mr. Van Fleet today. "During those years I have endeavored at all time to serve the buying public courteously and faithfully and both Mr. Eakin and myself will continue to do so.

"Although until a few days ago I was connected with the other firm I have tried to get everything in readiness to open our new store Saturday. Some of our clothing has arrived and will be on display tomorrow.

"There is a large portion of it enroute to the city and though it may not all be here for the opening I want our friends to call. It is not necessary that they purchase. We want to welcome them and they are welcome if they just come in to say 'Hello.'

"Within a week our store will be completely attired and the new firm of Van Fleet & Eakin will be serving the public and giving the public what it wants in the way of men's clothing," said Mr. Van Fleet.

Rural Route From Enon Valley Will Be Extended Soon

By GEORGE H. MANNING.
(Washington Correspondent of The News.)

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 9.—The postoffice department today advised Representative J. Howard Swick that Rural Route No. 1 out of Enon Valley, Lawrence county, is to be extended a considerable distance effective April 1 as requested by him.

The exteision will provide mail facilities for quite a number of families in that section who have had to go to after their mail instead of having it brought to them.

Postal Company Secures Permit For Duct Space

Officials of the Postal Telegraph company today informed city council that the company has made arrangements with the Bell Telephone company whereby they can have permanent occupancy for their cables should the city sell the conduit system to the Bell Telephone company.

So far the councilmen have not passed the ordinance providing for the sale pending Councilman Burns investigation of the expense of installation of the municipal system.

Negro Minister Robbery Victim

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9—Police today sought two confidence men who "cast a spell" over Rev. Robert Jackson, negro minister, and took his $100. Asked to recommend a reliable bank, Jackson spoke highly of the bank he did business with and to prove the bank's willingness to return money, withdrew $100 of his own savings which ultimately found its way into the pockets of the strangers.

BROWN ASKS FOR NEW COAL RULE

W. A. Brown, sealer of weights and measures, today formally asked council to adopt an ordinance making it compulsory for all coal dealers to take out a city license and show a bill giving the amount of coal bought, delivered and showing the name of the person weighing the coal.

TROOP 2.

Rotary Troop 2 met Thursday evening in the Carnegie auditorium in charge of Scoutmaster Ray F. Hall. But newly organized, this troop is progressing rapidly, and it is thought that it will soon rank with many of the older troops.

The following scouts have volunteered their services for the auto show —Kenneth Calderwood, James Hiles, Robert Frazier, Warren Dwyer and Allison Pitsch. The other scouts have also made arrangements to take part in several civic activities.

Reed Decides To Enter Wisconsin Primary Election

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 9.—Senator James A. Reed has definitely decided to go into the Democratic primary in Wisconsin, Ed. S. Villmoare, treasurer of the Reed Presidential campaign fund, announced here today. Villamoare said friends of the Missouri senator would file for Reed within a few days.

Decision whether or not to enter the primaries in Ohio and Indiana also will be decided shortly, Villamoare said.

Dress Goods Manufacturing Process Shown In New Castle Store Window

In the windows of the New Castle Dry Goods Company is one of the most unique displays in the matter of a new type of dress material, that has ever been seen here. The display is a minature reproduction of the processes of manufacture through which the material goes before it is offered to the thrifty housewife.

In what represents the first floor, there are five sections, the front of which drop, showing the various processes of manufacture. Above these sections is a picture of the actual work done in the factory, while below is printed matter explaining what is going on.

Miners Are Given Haircuts-Shaves Free By Barbers

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Several hundred miners in the Renton district sported fresh haircuts and shaves today through the benevolence of William Cravelle and fellow barbers.

Cravelle is the son of a striking miner, but works as a barber. He hit upon the idea of the barber trade doing its bit toward aiding the destitute strikers by providing free haircuts and shaves, where others had given money and food.

So their first afternoon off, Cravelle and his barbers went to Renton and did a rushing business for miners who because of the strike couldn't afford a "barber-shop shave or haircut."

Naval Estimates In Great Britain Show Reduction

(International News Service)

LONDON, March 9.—Great Britain's naval estimates for 1928 total $286,500,000, a reduction of $3,500,000 from the 1927 estimates, according to official figures given to parliament today by First Lord of the Admiralty William C. Bridgeman.

The building program calls for expenditure of $48,149,285 and provides for the construction of two cruisers, eight destroyers, four submarines and six smaller vessels.

First Lord of the Admiralty Bridgeman, in submitting the estimates said that "the continued placidity of the general naval situation" warrants economy.

MAN ACQUITTED IN ROBBERY CHARGE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—Accused of staging a robbery in mid-air, assaulting Vincent Pikutis while operating a traveling crane and robbing him of $64, Ralph Maloney, 30, was acquitted by a jury before visiting Judge Charles Culver of Bradford. The defense claimed Maloney was not at work the day of the robbery.

BLANKETS STOLEN

Clifford Gilmore of 607 North Cedar street reported to the police that while his car was parked at the Lawrence garage on South Mercer street, that two blankets were stolen from his car.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

A few more evenings of roaming such as last night and I'll have a perfectly good bed for sale. No use owning a bed if it isn't used. The total of the evening's roaming took in a banquet, a concert and a school board meeting that lasted until after 1 o'clock.

The banquet was the fifth annual recognition banquet of the North Street Junior high school, held in the basement of the Third United Presbyterian church. That's one annual eating affair that I don't care to miss.

The youngsters who have achieved distinction in any line in school get together and their awards are presented to them. Makes no difference whether it was athletics or algebra, basketball or botany, football or French, the youngsters who stand out get recognized, and its a custom that is a good one.

A good meal, plenty of life, a lot of vivacious boys and girls, good music, few speeches (fortunately) and an air of enthusiasm that is found in few other banquets. And a toastmaster who knew how to keep the program moving.

And by the way, is a young lady toastmaster, a toastmaster or a toastmistress? Is she Madame Toastmaster or Mister Toastmistress? And if so, why? This is a question that is referred to the Lexicographer of this colyum, Attorney Homer C. Drake, for prompt and immediate attention.

That concert of Richard Crooks was one of those happy things that occur all too seldom. True, he had too large a proportion of foreign tongue numbers, but that voice of his is so lovely, so pure and so true that one could overlook that in a measure. And after hearing him sing "If With All Your Hearts," I believe that I never want to hear an amateur tenor attempt it.

As for the school board meeting you can well afford to read the article covering this meeting, if you are a taxpayer. The members of the board had a most distasteful job, setting down the amount of money needed for the coming year and they really tried to keep expenses down. Like most things, the cost of school operation keeps on the upgrade and there is only one place to get the money and that is from the people concerned in the schools. There is a slight increase in the school tax this year, but the increase of the millage from 13¾ to 15 or 15½ is not a true presentation of the case. The actual increase in the amount of tax money to be paid in will be about four per cent to the taxpayers.

Score one for the Society Editor, Miss "Kitty" English. Now ordinarily the young lady deals with those lovely little affairs which call for what is known as finewriting. Such as "a frond of palms bowering over a skillfully concealed water fountain, and in front of these, two young people who pledged their lives one to the other." You know, all that sort of thing. Wise cracks are foreign to the young lady but today she scored. The office clock has been on a strike and as Miss English looked up at it to see the time she remarked that the clock must be a Coolidge clock, "it did not choose to run."

ALTOONA MAN PUTS UP BATTLE AGAINST POLICE BUT LOSES

ALTOONA, Pa., March 9.—After a terrific battle with police, Edward Walker, 24, was under arrest here today.

When a constable attempted to serve a warrant on Walker, the young man barricaded himself in his home, fired his revolver and refused to surrender. Police used tear bombs, however, and within a few minutes Walker was their prisoner.

Non-Union Miner Shot In Head By Police Officer

Non-Union Miner Flees From Arrest But Is Shot By Officer

(International News Service)

FAYETTE CITY, Pa., March 9.—Diving through a window to escape from coal and iron police who had arrested him following a brawl with his wife, Manuel Lucas, 45, non-union miner, was shot in the head by a policeman. Physicians said his wounds are serious.

The shooting occurred at what is known as Arnold mine No. 4 at Arnold City, last night. While pursuing the fleeing Lucas, a policeman was kicked in the face by a horse and badly hurt.

It was with difficulty that police suppressed what threatened to be a riot among the miners when word spread that one of their number had been shot by a policeman. Both injured men are in a hospital.

COAL DEALER LOSER IN CONSPIRACY SUIT

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., March 9.—J. W. Cosser, prominent coal dealer and former Greene county commissioner, was the loser today in a conspiracy suit he brought against Walter Hawkins, of Waynesburg, and Harry Mitchell and John Clark, of Uniontown.

Cosser charged the trio with fraud in a business deal he consummated with them. The jury decided the defendants were innocent, but he declared the costs should be divided equally among the four.

PROMISES LONG, HEALTHY LIFE TO WEAK, THIN-BLOODED PEOPLE

Scientists Discover "Mysterious Substance" in Beef Livers That Makes Rich Red Blood and Creates Strength, Vigor and Vitality—Often in 8 Days.

In New York and other big cities progressive physicians are prescribing a diet of beefs liver.

They have found by actual tests that patients far gone with pernicious anemia—so far gone that life itself was only a matter of months—have been restored to health.

In order to get this "Mysterious Substance" or vitamines in a greatly condensed form one of New York's famous Laboratories is putting up a liquid elixir known to Pharmacists as Hemo-Liver.

This preparation is not a patent medicine—the vitamines are extracted by a new process from fresh beefs liver so that the blood making, health creating substance is saved.

It is not a patent medicine but a pleasant to take elixir which all thin blooded people and especially those who need more vigor and vitality are urged to try.

Hemo-Liver is now dispensed by all druggists who keep abreast of the times with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help—wonderfully—your money will be returned.

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished.

You can get Hemo-Liver at Love & Megowns.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

Buffalo Bill, Scout Of Scouts—Part XI
Flight And Pursuit

WHEN DARKNESS FELL, THE INDIANS CEASED THEIR ATTACK ON THE LITTLE McCARTHY PARTY AND RETIRED SOME DISTANCE FROM THE CAMP OF THE HERDERS. THE DEFENDERS KNEW THE RED MEN WOULD RENEW HOSTILITIES AT DAWN, AND DECIDED IT WOULD BE WISER TO RETREAT TO FORT KEARNY AT ONCE.

THE MOON HAD NOT YET RISEN AND IN THE INKY BLACKNESS THE HERDERS SUCCEEDED IN ELUDING THE HOSTILES, AND FLED ALONG THE SHORE OF PLUM CREEK. IT WAS NOT LONG, HOWEVER, BEFORE THEIR FLIGHT WAS DISCOVERED, AND AFTER PAUSING TO PLUNDER THE DESERTED WAGON OF ITS STORES, THE INDIANS SET OUT IN PURSUIT.

BY THE TIME THE MOON ROSE, THE FLEEING HERDERS HAD COVERED MANY MILES, BUT THEIR PURSUERS WERE NOT FAR BEHIND THEM. BILLY CODY HAD BRAVELY KEPT UP THE GRUELING PACE, BUT WAS NEARLY EXHAUSTED AND LAGGED A HUNDRED YARDS OR MORE BEHIND THE OTHERS.

AS THE WEARY BOY QUICKENED HIS STEPS TO OVERTAKE HIS COMPANIONS, HE HEARD A SLIGHT SOUND, AND LOOKING UP SAW ON THE BANK ABOVE HIM THE FIGURE OF AN INDIAN CROUCHED LIKE A PANTHER FOR A SPRING.

DILKS THIRD IN COAST TO COAST RACE

Briton Is First, Finlander Second

Newton Passes Dilks When He Tries To Cut Down Leader's Time

ONE HUNDRED FIFTY IN GRUELLING GRIND

Arthur Newton of England is leading, Olli Wantinen of Finland is second and Glenn Dilks of New Castle is third in the coast-to-coast footrace, according to reports received here today.

For a time yesterday it appeared as though Dilks would be able to cut down the lead of the two runners, but when half way between Barstow and Mojave Wells, Calif., Newton overtook him.

The leaders rushed away from Barstow to race through a hot, blistering sun, while chilly winds shipped across the desert. Dilks set a fast pace.

Passes Dilks

Midway between Barstow and Mojave Wells the tall British runner, Newton 100-mile champion runner of England, overtook the New Castle boy, but Dilks pulled into Mojave Wells ahead of the Finlander.

But, according to the time the three have taken to run the distance so far, Glenn stands third.

Their record for yesterday's lap follows: 32 miles: Newton, four hours and 48 minutes, and Dilks five hours, 13 minutes, 50 seconds. Wantinen's time was slower than Dilks'.

Their elapsed time for the distance covered so far is: Newton, 24 hours and 28 minutes, 30 seconds; Wantinen, 24:32:27, and Dilks 27:53:50.

Start Sixth Day

(International News Service)

MOJAVE WELLS, Cal., March 9.—Runners in C. C. Pyle's Los Angeles-to-New York "bunion derby" were poised here today for a resumption of the exhausting grind. Today is their sixth day out and they have covered scarcely more than 160 miles.

Arthur F. H. Newton, of Rhodesia, Central Africa, led the back into this little oasis last evening. Newton, 44 years old and the holder of every amateur record from 29 to 100 miles, is proving the sensation of the most gruelling foot race ever conceived by man.

Skimming across rocky desert road, over waterless wastes and among black lava beds, this great Rhodesian runner led his nearest competitor into Mojav Wells by 25 minutes and 50 seconds. This run gave Newton the elapsed time lead over the 90-pound Finnish runner, Olli Wantinen, and definitely established him as the big favorite to win the 3,400-mile jog to New York.

Newton's time today was 4:48:00 for the 32 1-2-mile hop. His total elapsed time is 165.6 miles, 24:38:30.

Penn State Teams To Play Tomorrow

Four Teams Will Compete In Annual Winter Sports Carnival

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 9.—Four aggregations of Nittany Lions are resting today after a week of strenuous practice for the four events tomorrow, when the boxing, wrestling and two basketball teams will close the winter sport season in a gigantic winter sports carnival on the home floor. All of the Lion coaches report their men to be in excellent shape for the program tomorrow, but in several cases the lineup is in doubt.

Both the freshman and varsity quintets have been scrimmaging against each other in preparation for their struggles with the University of Pittsburgh fives tomorrow night. The boxing team, in the first event of the afternoon, will meet Temple. While Temple is not strictly in intercollegiate championship circles, yet Coach Leo Houck believes it to be one of the toughest spots on Penn State's schedule.

All of the events will be broadcast from the Penn State radio station.

Colegians Trim Shamrocks 21-18

The New Wilmington Collegians defeated the Shamrocks 21 to 18 in a game played last night at the Rose avenue gym floor. The game was hard fought and mighty interesting.

The score at the end of the first half stood at 13 to 11 in favor of the Collegians. At the end of the third period the score was deadlocked at 16-16. By superior passing and accurate shooting the Collegians won out in the last few minutes of play.

The Hutchison brothers and Henderson were the big guns for the Collegians, with Tyrell and A. Mehalic the best for the losers.

The summary:

Shamrocks 18		Collegians 21
J. Mehalic	F	T. Hutchison
A. Mehalic	F	Kanagy
Panas	C	W. Hutchison
Burns	G	Moore
Sheridan	G	Henderson

Subs—Tyrell and Turo.

Field goals—W. Hutchison 3, T. Hutchison 2, Turo, Henderson 2, Tyrell 3, A. Mehalic 2, Sheridan, J. Mehalic.

Foul goals—Shamrocks 4 out of 14, Collegians 3 out of 19.

Three Fast Games In Church League

Three fast games are billed tonight in the New Castle Church basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. court. The first game will start at 7 o'clock.

The Mahoning M. E. boys will tackle the strong Temple Israel quintet in the first encounter. The Croton M. E. team will play the First M. E. team in the second game and the First Christians will meet the Central Christians in the final battle.

The Church League season will close on Saturday night, March 17.

Textor To Pilot New Castle Club

Officials Make Formal Announcement Of Manager's Name Today

RENEWS FRANCHISE IN O. & P. CIRCUIT

GEORGE TEXTOR

George Textor of Massillion will manage the New Castle club in the Ohio-Pennsylvania Baseball League, it was formally announced today by Carm Sacco, business agent.

Textor was selected at a recent meeting when it was decided to once again cast the club's lot with the O. & P. loop and two games a week will be played at Centennial field.

According to plans announced today the players on the Massillion team when playing here will be known as New Castle.

Beaver Falls which won the championship last year will represent Beaver Falls and Youngstown. Akron, Cleveland and Canton will be in the loop and Meadville is seeking a franchise.

The league will swing into action about May 1.

Duquesne Quintet Tops Connellsville

The fast traveling and rangy Duquesne High school basketball team smothered Connellsville High under a 32 to 8 score in the W. P. I. A. L. tourney game played at the Pitt Stadium floor Thursday night.

The "Cokers" found the going mighty tough and rang up but one field goal for the entire game. The work of Kowallis at forward for the "Dukes" was a bright feature.

Tonight on the stadium court the strong Braddock High team will play Ford City High.

Saturday night the Monessen and Fifth Avenue High teams will clash, with New Castle booked to meet the winner of this contest next Tuesday night at the Pitt stadium. On Monday night at the stadium the winner of the Braddock-Ford City game will meet Duquesne High in the semi-final of the tourney.

ELIZABETH RYAN

Elizabeth Ryan may be out of active tennis competition forever, according to news dispatches, owing to an injured finger, sustained at Monte Carlo.

With the passing of Miss Ryan would go the only woman to twice defeat Miss Helen Wills, national champion, since the California girl became a major tennis player.

Until Miss Ryan injured her finger, she and Miss Wills were listed as entries in the Monte Carlo tournament, and it was regarded as possible that Miss Ryan might have again defeated the Californian a third time.

Washington Senators Will Be In Pennant Fight Says Harris

Stanley Harris Thinks Senators Very Much Improved Ball Club

Six Positions On Team Already Cinched; Sisler And Judge Prove Questions

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

TAMPA, Fla., March 9. — They called him the boy manager when he was winning pennants several years ago but today the boy was a man and he proved it as only a real man can by declaring that he, himself, Stanley Harris, was more than a little to blame for the fact that the Washington Senators weren't a better ball club last year. It may not have been a strictly accurate estimate of the situation but he made it and he meant it and that, after all, is where the line at the pay window starts.

"Success" he said with that depreciating smile of his, "may have gone a little to my head," and let it go at that.

Having lifted that vest-full from his abdomen, the first baseball man ever to admit publicly that a mistake was all his next turned his attention to the New York Yankees, who are one of the things to which you turn your attention at the slightest provocation or none at all. He doesn't think the Yankees are a kicking for the pannant as the surrent version would have it, and cites as his reasons the following:

Thinks Senators Are Good

1—The Washington Senators.

2—The Yanks' elderly pitchers.

3—The conviction that Ruth and Gehrig will not repeat their 1927 records.

4—The Washington Senators.

5—The belief that the Yanks got all the breaks last year and none of these happened to be bones.

6—The Washington Senators.

Quite so, Mr. Harris, with remarkable self-control, is able to view the Washington Senators with almost no distaste. He thinks well and kindly of the Senators it seems and they think well of him. It is only when the question of the Yankees and the Philadelphia Athletics arises that kindliness is allowed to run in the outside lane. It appears that he concedes the former nothing and gives the latter slightly less. He didn't so say but I gathered that he somewhat disdains the venerable gentlemen of Philadelphia.

The senators? Well, just a better ball club, my good fellow, and right here, I want to say that I live only for the day when some manager will inveigle me into the clothes press to tell me in the spring that his club is worse, much worse.

At shortstop, nother great Alabama football man. Grant Gillis, is giving Boob Reeves, the regular quite a rally. So is one M. C. Hayes, of Clanton, Alabama, and Birmingham. Harris says that Hayes reminds him of Lazzeri when Tony came up two years ago. He is certain that he will get a major league shortstop from one of the three mentioned. Ernest Smith, of Kansas City, and Tom Taylor, of Houston, Texas, are around and so is the inevitable Ernest Shirley, although it may be that the latter is going for a ride soon.

Six Positions Cinched

Six of the nine positions are assured, it appears, and a seventh only is a matter of choice between Sisler and Joe Judge.

"It's even up between them to date and I'd like to play them both," Harris says. He then goes on to declare that the Cleveland deal for Judge is deader than last week's oatmeal, particularly since he no longer feels the need of pitchers.

One of these, Irving Hadley, is at a local hospital, laughing merrily off an operation for appendicitis but Harris declares he will be ready by mid-April. Hadley and Lisenbee were two outstanding recruit pitchers of 1927. Milt Gaston, obtained from the Browns, is another big shoo down here. Another regular fight hander will be the veteran Fred Marberry, to say nothing of the even more aged Sam Jones. The place is simply overrun with left handers and all of them, according to Harris, are good.

Muddy Ruel and Henry Tate will be the catchers, as of yore. Hugh McMullen, former Giant, is back from Louisville, and this time, he expects to hit better by batting only as a right hander. A fourth catcher is Al Cooper, of Flat River, Mo., and Birmingham. If he doesn't care to remain in either place, he can take this matter up with McMullen.

Harris and Ossie Bluege, perforce, will play second and third base respectively and Goose Goslin and Sam Rice left and right fields respectively. And, oh, yes, Walter Johnson won't be with the club this year. This fact was duly discovered by an enterprising reporter several days ago.

New Wilmington Team Will Meet Mt. Jackson High

(International News Service)

NEW WILMINGTON, March 9.—In the final game of the season the New Wilmington basketball team meets Mt. Jackson high here this evening. Because of their victory over Mt. Jackson earlier in the season the "dope" favors a win for the college town passers.

The probability is that Coach Wiggins will start the same college town team that lost to Bessemer last Friday. This line-up places Hartwell and Patterson at forwards, Newton at center and Herriott and McConnell at guard.

In the preliminary encounter tonight the New Wilmington girls' combine will meet the Mt. Jackson sextet. In the last few games the Boyd coached Jackson lassies have been showing improved form and are conceded a chance against the strong Wilmington team.

Petite Leader Of Thiel Quint

TOMMY SULLIVAN

Pictured above is Tommy Sullivan, captain of the Thiel College basketball team for the season of 1928. Sullivan is but five feet five inches tall and weighs but 130 pounds. It is believed that the young man is the smallest collegiate floor captain in the country. Tommy is not alone a good basketball player, but is an honor students plus, and a Senior at Thiel. He is a member of the Theta Kappa Nu national social fraternity.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS TO MEET SUNDAY

The Penn-State football team, formerly the South Side Bulldogs will hold a meeting on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Richard's Soft Drink parlor.

The following are asked to be present: Johnny Lewis, Elmer Taylor, Jamison, Ed Gibson, L. Lewis, George Kulha, Frank Merriman, Art Thomas, Carl Gennock, Walt Sumner, Elmo Clark, Paul Rowe, Glenn Williams, Neyman, Scotty Watson, Dave Johns, Glenn Thomas, Harold Harris, George Mike, Dan Eardley, "Doc" Ross and Johnny Rodgers.

History tells us everything except the number of years that elapsed after 1776 before revolutions became wicked.

Hoover's Dog Wins First At Toledo Show

"Hoover's Trouble" Will Be Shown At Akron, O., Show Today

J. C. Hoover, vice president of the Lawrence County Kennel Club, whose home and Cocker Spanial Kennels are located at Walmo, out on the New Wilmington Road, received word this morning that his well known pet, "Hoover's Trouble" a black Cocker Spanial of more than ordinary merit is making a record for itself and proud owner, while enroute at this time over what is known as the Mid West Dog Show Circuit.

Last week at the big Toledo Dog Show "Hoover's Trouble" won first best of his breed in the show and went to winners, annexing two points toward his championship.

Two years ago, this beautiful specimen of dog flesh saw light of day in Canton, Ohio, where Mr. Hoover purchased it. Right after making its purchase, the dog won first in its class and was awarded the prize as second best dog of all breeds in the entire show.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, next "Hoover's Trouble" will be at Akron, Ohio, and the week following at Canton, Ohio. Following that he will be shown in Cincinnati, Cleveland, and Detroit, it being more than probable that, when he returns to New Castle, the dog will have annexed his championship.

Athletic Director Change At Pitt

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—The resignation of Elmer F. Blakeslee as director of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh and the appointment of W. Don Harrison to the post, were regarded today without surprise in Pitt circles.

Blakeslee, a construction engineer, intends to devote his entire time to the building of the huge Cathedral of Learning at Pitt. Blakeslee had supervised the Pitt Stadium project.

Harrison, student counsellor at Pitt and formerly Dean of Men, has been an athlete, soldier and newspaperman. He is regarded as well qualified to fill the post. He has held executive positions at the University of Iowa, Iowa College and Akron University.

Since finishing his studies in 1916 he held positions as reporter and then sports editor on the Tribune, Des Moines, Iowa, served in the World war and then entered upon an academic career.

Geneva Defeats Westminster In Fast Game, 37-22

Tri-State Conference Champions Lose To Geneva In Hardfought Battle

Friedman, Former New Castle Boy, Stars For Covenantors In Season Final

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., March 9—Too much Friedman spelled defeat for the Westminster College basketball team, champions of the Tri-State Conference, here last night. The final tally was 37 to 22, with Geneva on the long end.

Friedman, former New Castle High star performer, was par excellence last night in the season climax on the college court, his total efforts for the evening being 15 points via seven baskets and a foul try. Captain Moe Rubenstein, playing his farewell game as a member of the Geneva College quintet, also played a fine game, as did Ransom, the pivot man.

At the start of the battle Coach Lawther started his team with only two regulars in the line-up, but after some playing the three remaining regulars found their way into the contest, but Geneva was an inspired team and at the end of the first half were leading, 17 to 9.

The line-up:

Geneva 37		Westminster 22
Rubenstein	F	Crowell
Friedman	F	McMeekin
Ransom	C	Conner
Emerick	G	Witherspoon
Merriman	G	Ayers

Geneva 17 20—37
Westminster 9 13—22

Substitutions—Geneva: McKinney for Rubenstein, Bruce for Friedman, Lyons for Ransom, Duncan for Emerick, Lloyd for Merriman; Westminster: T. Lewis for Witherspoon, O'Donovan for Crowell, Delahunty for McMeekin, Crowell for Conner, Conner for Crowell, W. Lewis for O'Donovan, Fisher for Ayers. Field goals—Rubenstein 4, Friedman 7, Ransom 1, Merriman 2, W. Lewis 1, McMeekin 2, Conner 4, Witherspoon 1. Foul goals—Geneva, 9 out of 17; Westminster, 6 out of 13. Referee—Dan Daugherty. Umpire—Cal Bolster.

Several Fast "Y" Teams To Play Here In Tourney Tomorrow

Lawrenceville And Sharpsburg Y. M. C. A. Teams Enter Local Senior Tourney

The strong Lawrenceville Y. M. C. A. team will be here tomorrow for the annual Senior Y. M. C. A. championship games, it was announced today by Walter E. Kirker. The fast Sharpsburg team has also entered the local tourney.

The Lawrenceville team this year is reputed to be the best that has ever represented the association and they have played some of the best teams in the Pittsburgh district. Mr. Chedle, physical director of the Lawrenceville Y. M. C. A. team will accompany the boys.

The fast Sharpsburg Y. M. C. A. team will send a team here that will give the other tourney teams a hard fight for the championship.

The Senior Y. M. C. A. tournament scheduled here for Saturday is going to give the local fans a chance to see some of the best amateur teams in the Pittsburgh district in action. The following teams have sent in their entry blanks: McKeesport, Lawrenceville, Sharpsburg, Wilmerding, East Liberty, Hill Top, Sewickley, North Burroughs, and Coraopolis. New Castle will have a strong representative team in the field also it was announced by Kirker.

Floor Notes

The Temple Israel Sophs defeated the Mahoning M. E. Midgets 26 to 20 in a game played at the Mahoningtown court on Tuesday night. On Thursday night at the Temple floor the Temple Israel Sophs defeated the Pirates 32 to 24. Yaffe, Ginsberg and H. Rosenburg played the best game for the Sophs, with Murdock and Davis the best bets for the Pirates.

The Liberty Five, champions of the second-half of the City League will journey to Beaver Falls tonight to meet the fast Keystone Five. The following are asked to report at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:30 o'clock: Parker, Kearns, Kroen, Reiber, Clark, Hannon, Woods, McKay, Nocera, and Manager Tony Tino. The Liberty Five recently cinched the gonfalon in the City League by trouncing the Athletics. The Liberty Five would like to play the Central Christian team of the Church League. For games call Tony Tino 4349-J, or write Tony Tino, 608 Long avenue.

The Casa Savoia Big Five will tangle with the Penn-Billiards at the House of Savoia court tonight. The Savoia Juniors will play the Union High Alumni in the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

WINTER'S

Three Water-Boys — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service.

There are other male swimmers in the world besides Johnny Weissmuller, although probably a large percentage of the public hasn't ever heard of them. There is Arne Borg, the Swedish Leviathan, for instance, who holds most of the world's free-style records not credited to Chicago Johnny. But Arne doesn't count in this discussion, as he is abroad and this deals with three men who will be Johnny's rivals in the coming indoor championships at Chicago early next month.

Spence, Kojac and Laufer will give Johnny Weissmuller plenty of trouble any time they meet him, and already some of them have taken his measure, and also some of his records. Walter Laufer, for instance, holds the accepted world's record for 100 and 200 meters back-stroke, at 1 minute, 11 and 2-10ths seconds, and 2 minutes, 38 and 8-10ths seconds, respectively. Yet George Kojac is the indoor and outdoor back-stroke champion, and has beaten both Johnny and Walter in this event, and has set a new record, yet to be accepted, for the 400-meter dorsal-type of swimming.

Walter Spence has made new records, yet to be accepted, in the 100 and 200-meter breast-stroke events, and holds the indoor and outdoor championships. Spence is a very versatile performer, being a fine free-style and back-stroke swimmer as well.

George Kojac, the amateur swimming sensation of 1927, is also a fine free-style performer. He won second place in the indoor 220 and the outdoor 100 meters, and should be even better this year.

Feg Murray Says—

Another free suggestion to Tex Rickard. Have the hockey rink at the Garden divided into large squares, painted red and black alternately. Put huge rubber pucks on each of the squares in all but the two center rows. Then turn loose the rival hockey teams and let them play checkers.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Glenn Dilks of New Castle today is fighting with the blistering sun and the chill winds of a desert, trying to carve a name for himself in the Hall of Long Distance Foot Racers and the city of New Castle should be greatly interested in the Seventh ward boy's attempt.

Glenn led for a time yesterday but the tall Briton, Newton, passed him after Dilks had set a terrific pace through the desert where cactus, hot sand, blinding sun and water is out of the question until the racers reached Mojave Wells.

Were there a telegraph office at Needles, Calif., it wouldn't be a poor idea for the sportsmen of New Castle to send a few words of encouragement to the New Castle boy who set out alone to run across the United States.

Glenn has been running around New Castle for years but until recently never raced against time .He tried to break the record between New Castle and Erie and was stopped by snow, sleet and rain but it showed that he could run and had stamina.

The climate of the west will have considerable to do with his performance, so if the Western Union or the Postal Telegraph has an office at Needles, Calif., drop him a telegram and urge the lad to keep going. He's a game guy and don't forget it.

He is trying to win the purse or a part of the $48,500 which has been hung up and in leading the field yesterday brought athletic fame, even if temporary to the city. While it is true he is behind two of the runners he may be able to cut down their lead. The race has only just begun.

When Freddy Fitzgerald comes here Monday night he will be out for revenge because yesterday his friends here said that he wishes to redeem himself for the whipping which Zivie Osborne gave him recently at Youngstown. Freddy is the chap who knocked out Mickie Solomon in two rounds at Youngstown.

There is no question but that Monday night's card will be good as Eddie Conrad, the clever lightweight from Cleveland reports that his hand, fractured in his first bout here has healed and he is ready to give the acid test to Jimmie Kirkpatrick of Ellwood City. The preliminary bouts will be announced Saturday.

Turning in exceptionally well played rounds, Virginia Wilson and Maureen Orcutt furnished thrills at St. Augustine Fla., yesterday. Miss Wilson was out in 37 to defeat Beatrice Gottlieb and Miss Orcutt won six and four from Mrs. O. S. Hill.

Elmer Blakeslee, director of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh has resigned and W. D. Harrison former dean of men at Pitt has been appointed as his successor. The new director has been a journalist military officer and university executive.

this naturalized laundryman holds his bat like an ironing board and swings like a wringer.

If this Giant celestial makes good, after all, and gets into the world series all soap-and-suds shops will probably close and a national holiday declared in the best washtub circles.

And if he fails Mr. Lai still has time to hurry back to China and take in the spring showing of revolutions. We understand the boys have some brand new civil wars and a few uprisings, slightly used.

Bullets fly so thick over there that at first foreigners think it is hailing. It's considered a time of peace when the number of missles is less than ten to the square foot.

China today is enjoying a world war confined to one country. It's great sport, except for one thing—the struggle began so long ago that by now everyone has forgotten what started it.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

SOMEWHERE SOUTH, March 9.—"The American and National leagues go into their baseball campaign with the American league facing a bitter fight to regain its lost prestige, built up in the early days of its existence and beaten down gradually by various causes.

"Drastic measures must, and will, be taken by the American league to regain that prestige."

Such are the statements of a man high in baseball circles.

"While the American league," he said, "has fought internal strife, suffered the long standing row between Ban Johnson and Commissioner K. M. Landis, and then watched its playing season, marred by runaway races, the National league has been overtaking its younger rival through the medium of hectic baseball races, the development of stars, and a unified front in handling its own problems," he continues.

"The overwhelming superiority of the Yankees as the American league teams tune up for the next campaign, does not lighten the load of that organization.

"It is extremely fortunate that the American league enters the season under a new head, E. S. Barnard, who goes into the office with his skirts clean, a free hand to direct the affairs of the league, harmonious relations with Judge Landis, and what is most important of all—a keen baseball brain.

"For the first time in years, if not in its history, the circuit failed last winter to publish its attendance figures. There was a reason for this. It was no secret that three clubs in the league suffered very poor financial seasons, and the others, with the exception of the Yankees, did not fare as they hoped to. The spectacular play of the Yanks and the home-run race between Ruth and Gehrig, as a side show, helped swell the attendance figures of the other club when the Yanks were in town; but with the Yankees away, the fans played—golf.

"It remains to be seen whether the change in ownership and management at Cleveland will produce a sustained interest in that club—if the team itself does not get away to, and hold a good pace.

"The Boston Red Sox learned to their sorrow that Bill Carrigan's popularity alone was not enough to revive interest in that club.

"The change in management of the Browns, and the consequent efforts to rebuild the club, have not aided that club financially to date. These two clubs—the Red Sox and Browns—face a long pull."

All of which would indicate that the American league moguls have something besides the peanut concession to worry about.

Report Tunney Engaged To Wed

By LARRY SMITS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 9.—With renewed reports that Gene Tunney was engaged to Miss Caroline Bishop, of Beverly Hills, Calif., circulated amongst members of the Winter Colony today, the heavyweight champion behaved as a good fisherman should—he said nothing.

Tunney was out in the Gulf stream playing with King Fish and hoping that he would catch one.

Others in Tunney's camp could add nothing to the report which started when Miss Bishop left for California last night after a quiet visit here.

Lou Fink, Tunney's trainer, said that he was responsible for the champion's bodily condition, but not the condition of his heart.

Taciturn Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, is in New York and so is Rickard, so they would not enlighten enquirers.

"Miss Bishop is one of the loviest girls I have known, but it is premature and unfair to her to say that we are engaged to be married," was Tunney's only comment. He would not expand on that.

But gossip has it that Gene Tunney, champion of champions, has been kayoed by the little fellow with the bow and arrow.

AN ORDINANCE

Relocating, ordaining, fixing and establishing Lawrence Street, between the center line of Mercer Street and the center line of South Mill Street; establishing a grade thereon; condemning certain lands of the Carnegie Steel Company within the new lines of the said Street; authorizing and directing the conveyance of the land vacated by the said relocation in settlement of damages for the said improvement; and opening the said Street.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pa., that Lawrence Street, between the center line of Mercer Street and the center line of Mill Street, be relocated, ordained, fixed and established as a fifty (50) foot street along the following center line, viz.: Beginning at a point in the center line of Mercer Street fifty-one (51) feet South of the present center line of Lawrence Street; thence South 71 degrees, 28's E., 416 feet to a point at the intersection of the center line of Mill Street, with the center line of Grove Street; and that Lawrence Street, between Mercer Street and Mill Street, as heretofore established and ordained, be vacated and closed.

SECTION 2. That the grade on the said Lawrence Street, between the said points, be fixed as follows, to-wit: Beginning at the intersection of the center line of the said Lawrence Street, as hereby ordained and established, with the center line of the said Mercer Street, at an elevation of 804 feet; thence by the center line of the said Lawrence Street, ascending at the rate of 0.5% for 208'; thence descend at 0.5% for 208 feet to the center line of Mill Street, at an elevation of 804 feet.

SECTION 3. That the said Lawrence Street, between the said points be immediately opened at the grade herein established for its full width. And in the event that the said street is not actually opened and a bridge constructed thereon by the proper authorities before the first day of May, 1931, then this ordinance shall be null and void and all rights acquired by the City thereunder shall be forfeited.

SECTION 4. That all of the land of the Carnegie Steel Company, embraced and included within the lines of the said street, be and the same is hereby taken, appropriated and condemned for use by the said City as a public street, as aforesaid; and that the Carnegie Steel Company be paid for the said land taken such price as may be agreed upon between the said company and the said City; or in case of the failure of the said company and the said City to agree, such damages as shall be awarded to the company for the said land by viewers, appointed as is provided by law.

SECTION 5. That if the said Carnegie Steel Company shall agree to accept the land lying within the old location of the said street and East line of the Neshannock Creek, in whole or in part payment for the land taken by this ordinance, the Mayor of the said City is hereby authorized and directed to make a good and sufficient deed of the said land, within the lines of the vacated street, to the said Carnegie Steel Company, to convey the same by good and indefeasible title to the said Company.

SECTION 6. All of the cost of the said improvement and all damages incident thereto, not herein provided for, shall be paid by the City from a fund beretofore appropriated or to be appropriated by Council.

SECTION 7. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

I, Cordelia Zeigler Jones, City Clerk, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing ordinance has been regularly introduced and is now pending in the council of the city of New Castle, Pa. In witness whereof, I hereunto set my hand and affix the seal of the city, this 24th day of February, 1928.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 9.—The $26,000,000 decrease in brokers, loans reported by the Reserve Board at the close of Thursday's market was Wall street's evidence that the "buying had been better than the selling" in the furious uprush of stock prices over the past ten days that real cash instead of bank loans had been employed in the buying of large blocks of steel and motor stocks.

Industrial stocks jumped 1 to 3 points as the result of the crowding in of buyers in the first period, and in very few minutes General Motors scored a new 2½ point gain. The stock sold at 153 in this period, up about 17 points on the movement. Radio climbed 3 points to 101½ in heavy trading, and International Nickel was up 3. Hudson Motors, Hupp, Packard and Studebaker commanded a strong market, and Industrial Alcohol was in good form. Sinclair and Mariand led the oils, with street gossip again liking these strong companies in a new merger.

The Marvin Electric Company has filed a writ of replevin against Julius E. Brum to secure possession of a washing machine.

O. A. Knapp, trading as the Frigidiare Sales company has filed a writ of replevin against Ed E. Henry agent, and James H. Ellison, constable to secure possession of 11 Frigidaires and other goods in a store room at 20 South Mercer street. Value of the goods, $2,000.

J. J. Golis has filed a writ in replevin against Evangelos Zarkados to secure household goods valued at $200.

Richard Crooks Repeats Success

Noted Tenor Thrills Audience On Second Visit To New Castle

There are tenors and tenors, and then there is Richard Crooks, who might honestly be called the acme of present day concert tenors. And New Castle had the opportunity of hearing him on Thursday evening, March 8, in the Scottish Rite Cathedral under the auspices of the Educational Art Society.

Two years ago he was here and entranced us; last night he was even better than he was two years ago. That silky upper register which delighted then was even silkier, better controled and of better quality than then. In short, Richard Crooks was a success in his concert Thursday night.

One could even get away with the charge that he is charming, for if any male singer can be charming, Richard Crooks is that one. Big and graceful, blessed with a million dollar personality and the ability to project it out over the footlights, he pleased as much with his personality as he did with his voice.

Perhaps the program would have been a little better for more English songs, but that fault can be overlooked. And too, he added the one number which every tenor attempts at some time in his career and only a favored few do creditably, "If With All Your Hearts", from The Elijah. Just that one number alone was worth the price of admission, so that really one got all the rest of the program free.

For his accompanist Mr. Crooks persuaded Earl Mitchell to come out with him, and it's a good guess that the Greer Memorial organ was one reason why Mr. Mitchell consented. He is not an ordinary accompanist; he is an integral part of any singer's success, and when he presented a group of organ solos as an addition to the program he sold himself to New Castle music lovers. Now if somebody would just bring him back for an organ concert.

Thursday night's concert was one of the high spots of the Educational Art Society's program this year.

New Badges Arrive For City Police

New badges needed by officers on beats, the sergeants and city police woman arrived today and are being distributed by Chief of Police C. C. Horner.

A neat small sized gold plated badge has been received for the city policewoman, Mrs. Minnie McKibben. It has the words "Police Woman, New Castle, Pa." on it.

New brass colored badges for the use of the sergeants were also received. They bear the words, "Sergeant" and are very neat in appearance.

There are a dozen new nickle plated regulation badges for the use of the police officers.

Owing to the fact that there have been a number of changes on the force recently and there has a mixup in the badges used by the men. With the additional badges, it is expected that all the officers will soon have the badge they are entitled to.

Plan Activities For Rest Of Year

Senior Hi Y Club Will Meet Monday Evening At 6 O'clock

Enjoyable Banquet By Men's Class At First Baptist Church

Dinner Given By Team Defeated In An Exciting Membership Contest

About a hundred men sat down to a turkey dinner of the Men's class of the First Baptist church Thursday evening. The banquet was given by the team of Ed McKibben, which had been defeated in a most exciting membership contest by the team led by Harry Remley.

David Nesbitt was chairman of the kitchen committee, ably assisted by Walter Eckenrod, and a number of ladies of the church. Music was furnished during the dinner by the Williams family stringed orchestra which received repeated encores. The pep singing was led by W. E. (Red) Williams. A number of songs were written especially for the occasion by Mrs. W. H. Williams.

J. W. Owens, chairman of the program committee, then presented the toastmaster of the evening, G. M. Landis, who is the teacher of the class. The following responded to toasts: Hon. George Weingartner, who stressed the value of men's Bible classes to a community. Mr. Weingartner urged all the men to strictly obey the constitution of the United States and especially the 18th amendment. Harry Remley, captain of the winning team, then gave a graphic account of how his team had won. Ed McKibben then told of the factors which led to the defeat of his team. He stressed the benefits of such a contest in reaching the men of the city. A very spicy and stimulating toast was given by Stanley Treser, who represented the men who had come into the class during the contest.

Fitting words were spoken by J. W. Fombelle, president of the class, who suggested that plans for another contest would be presented to the class next Sunday morning. Hon. R. L. Hildebrand, judge of Lawrence county, gave a very timely address in which he showed that the stability of our nation and its hopes for future greatness depends upon the Christian training of its citizens. Additional features on the program were vocal solos by Mrs. P. D. Weller and Mrs. Stanley Reese.

A very appropriate reading was given by Ellis Reno. The banquet closed with the entire group singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."
